NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1440 (Senate Bill No. 662), as follows:

An Act regulating the packing of apples; providing penalties for violations and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Agriculture

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That every closed package containing apples grown in the State of Pennsylvania which is sold offered or consigned for sale packed for sale or shipped for sale shall bear upon the outside of one end in plain letters or figures or both the name and address of the person by whose authority the apples were packed the true name of the variety therein contained and the minimum size or numerical count of the fruit in the package provided that packages which cannot readily be marked on an exposed end shall be similarly marked in a conspicuous place If the true name of the variety is not known to the packer or the person by whose authority the apples are packed or branded then such variety shall be designated as "unknown" Every package of apples which is repacked shall bear the name and address of the person by whose authority it is repacked and shall be marked as prescribed by this act The letters and figures used in marking closed packages of apples under the provisions of this act shall be of a size not less than thirty-six point Gothic

Section 2 The marks prescribed by this act may be accompanied by any additional marks which are in accordance with the facts and which are not inconsistent with or do not in any way obscure the marks required by this act Apples packed and branded in accordance with the United States Apple Grading Law approved August third one thousand nine hundred and twelve shall be exempt from the provisions of this act

Section 3 All apples packed within the meaning of this act shall be so packed that the face or exposed surface shall fairly represent the average of the apples in the package And it shall be considered a fair representation if the face or exposed surface does not excel the average of the apples in the package by more than fifteen per centum in the matter of size and freedom from defects

Section 4 The minimum size of the fruit in all grades shall be determined by taking the transverse diameter of the smallest fruit in the package Minimum sizes shall be stated in variations of one-quarter of an inch as two inches two and one-quarter inches two and three-quarter inches three inches three and one-quarter inches and so on in accordance with the facts Minimum sizes may be designated by either figures or words and the word "minimum" may be designated by the use of the abbreviation "min" A tolerance of five per centum in the matter of size shall be allowed

Section 5 It shall be unlawful for any person to pack for sale ship for sale offer or consign for sale have in possession intended for sale or sell in closed packages any apples grown in this State (a) which are not packed and marked in accordance with the provisions of this act and the regulations made hereunder (b) or which bear any false statement design or device regarding such apples within the meaning of this act

Section 6 Any person who violates any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars for the first offense and not more than one hundred dollars for each subsequent offense No person shall be prosecuted under this act who can establish by satisfactory evidence that no part of the packing or branding of the apples concerned was done by him or under his authority and that he had no knowledge that they were not packed in accordance with said provisions All penalties costs and fines collected under this act shall be paid to the Secretary of Agriculture or his agent and by him shall be paid into the State Treasury for the use of the Commonwealth

Section 7 The provisions of this act shall not apply to apples in closed packages which are held stored or shipped to storage within the State until same are packed for sale offered or consigned for sale or shipped for sale

Section 8 The word "person" as used herein shall be construed to include individuals corporations partnerships and associations The act omission or failure of any official or employe of any person when such official or employe is acting within the scope of his employment or office shall in every case be deemed also the act omission or failure of the person as well as of the official or employe The words "closed package" shall mean a box barrel or other package the contents of which can not be easily inspected when such package is closed

Section 9 The enforcement of this act shall be vested in the State Department of Agriculture and its officers employes and agents are authorized to enter upon the premises of any person within this State for the purpose of purchasing packages of apples and securing evidence of violation of this act and the said Department of Agriculture is hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for enforcing its provisions

Section 10 This act shall take effect September first one thousand nine hundred and seventeen

Section 11 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOHR. Mr. Speaker, this bill is the one that was called up for final passage last week and met with some opposition. It think at this time it is better understood than it was then. I think that all growers of apples in the State of Pennsylvania should be in favor of this bill, and I know that the large producers of apples are in favor of it and it will work no hardship to any one. I think the bill should pass. I believe that all who have the horticultural interests at heart in our State should vote for this bill. Our neighboring states have laws more stringent than this. If we want to compete with the growers of apples shipped into our State annually by various apple growers from almost every section of the country, we must put up our apples in such a way that the consumer knows that when he gets apples that they must be up to a certain standard and this bill only provides for that standard. I say to you that no hardship can come to any one by the passage of this bill. I know that the consumer is for it and the grower who is fair and honest, who means to be fair in putting up his apples and wishes to guarantee them to be up to a certain standard, seeing to it that they are up to a certain grade, not large apples at the top and small ones at the bottom, and by packing and shipping apples that are so packed and up to standard our State should be able to compete with the apples that are shipped in here from other states. Therefore, I think that this bill should receive favorable consideration at this time

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Lohr, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOHR. Mr. Speaker, with pleasure.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman explain who is to be benefited by the passage of this act?

Mr. LOHR. Mr. Speaker, I believe, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Union, that every grower of applies in the State of Pennsylvania, who means to be fair and honest in the selling of his fruit will be benefited by the passage of this act.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether the growers of apples in Pennsylvania will be protected against the competition of growers of apples outside of the State of Pennsylvania if this act becomes a law, and whether or not an outside grower, a man who grows apples outside of the State of Pennsylvania, can ship to this State, in competition, apples without being subject to the provisions which this bill provides?

Mr. LOHR. Mr. Speaker, the States of Maryland, New York and various other states in our neighborhood, and especically the western states, have laws to-day which are very much more stringent than this law and require apples to be sorted, and graded better than is provided for in this law. When our apples are packed up to standard they are not at any loss in going out in the open market and competing with apples grown in other states.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I am not opposed to this act. My only purpose in asking this question is to be sure that our Pennsylvania producers are taken care of and not put upon an unfair basis of competition against outside growers.

Mr. ROSS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset.

The Speaker. Will the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Lohr, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOHR. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ROSS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether New York State and the State of Ohio and adjoining states have a similar law to this one?

Mr. LOHR. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say, in answer to that question, that New York State, Ohio, Massachusetts, Connecticut and various other states surrounding us have laws, as I have stated before, that are much more stringent than this bill provides.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—2.

Walter, Whitaker,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1488, entitled

An Act validating certain elections of counties, cities, boroughs, townships, school districts and other incorporated districts held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, entitled "An Act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities, to provide for the redemption of the same, and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof," and the amendments thereto, and validating bonds issued or authorized to be issued in pursuance of said election.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Luzerne, if this is not covered by the two or three validating bond bills which have already been passed, and I should like further to know why there is not the usual exemption of pending suits.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this bill simply provides a remedy for an election that was held in a district that I come from. I might illustrate the occurrence as it took place. There was a special election for increasing the indebtedness of Larksville Borough and a majority of the citizens of the borough voted for the increased indebtedness. After the election was held, there was a question as to whether or not the election was conducted properly, they contended that the Baker Ballot Law not been lived up to simply because the guard rails had not been placed in the seventh ward of Larksville Borough, with the result that they took the election to court. This act simply validates that election. That is the information that was given me by the solicitor of Larksville Borough. I am not a solicitor and I cannot answer any further questions pertaining to the bill.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I take it from the information which the gentleman from Luzerne has given the House that there is a suit pending in the court of Luzerne County with respect to this election, and this body if it were to pass this bill, and if the bill were to become a law, would put an end to that suit. Now the usual clause in all of these bills is that pending proceedings are not to be effected by them, and it is not right to my mind that citizens of a borough who litigate should have the Legislature to kick their suit out of court. There were two or three other bills passed along this line, and each one of them had the exemption in, and therefore I think the House ought not to assent to this proposed putting to an end of a lawsuit in Luzerne County. I know nothing about it except what the gentleman tells, but it is bad policy, and bad practice.

Mr. SIGGINS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I desire to say that this bill was referred to the committee of which I have the honor to be chairman. If you will notice the last part of the bill you will see that it simply validates those elections wherein the arrangement or equipment of the polling place at which such election was held was irregular, but it contains the proviso that all other requirements have been complied with—simply a technical defect, perhaps in this particular election on a technical construction of the ballot laws of this State.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the sponsor of this bill, I desire to call up at this time from page 36 of to-day's calendar, House Bill No. 409, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,
The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 409, entitled

An Act to compel land owners in townships of the second class to clear the highways abutting on their land of brush and trees and imposing certain duties and liabilities on township supervisors.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.
The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.
The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend by inserting after section 3, page 2, the following:
Section 4 This act shall apply only to roads running through cultivated lands or lands used for grazing purposes or enclosed with a fence for grazing.
Amend section 4, page 2, line 22, by striking out the figure "4" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "5."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordace with the instructions of the House.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?
It was agreed to.
Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1389, entitled

An Act establishing in the several jails prisons and penitentiaries the Bertillion method for the identinfication of criminals imposing certain duties upon the warden of the Western Penitentiary and authorizing county commissioners to provide measuring instruments and cabinets for the filing of cards and photographic plates at the expense of the county.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 851, entitled

An Act to amend the first paragraph of section four of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine entitled "An Act to provide for the classification of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class" as amended.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor of this bill explain it.
Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker, this bill simply provides for a four-year term for commissioners in townships of the first class. It also provides a hold-over feature. That is all there is to the bill and affects only townships of the first class.
On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—2.

Eby, Horne,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1265, entitled

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, entitled "An Act authorizing the township commissioners, of townships of the first class to ordain and establish sidewalks along the principal streets and highways of the township, leading directly to or connecting cities, boroughs, villages, or places of public resort; providing for and regulating the construction of the same; and authorizing the township commissioners to charge a part of the expense of constructing the same, including the grading and curbing thereof, upon the abutting property owners, and to defray the remaining part of such expense from the public funds of the township," ordaining and establishing sidewalks over and upon land abutting along the sides of streets, highways and turnpikes, and providing for the assessment and payment of damages and benefits in connection therewith.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the sponsor of this bill to explain the purpose of it.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, this act simply gives township commissioners of the first class, where the road is not sufficiently wide to permit of the construction of sidewalks, the right to condemn property along the road for that purpose.

Mr. STITES. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether the House understood the explanation. In the eastern section of the State in some of the townships there are very narrow roadways. It is the desire of the introducer of this bill, the sponsor of the bill, to permit the commissioners of the township to widen the road and arrange for the payment along the road where it is necessary to take property.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1180, entitled

An Act to prohibit dancing singing cabaret shows vaudeville or theatrical entertainments and moving picture exhibitions in places licensed for the sale of vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bedford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDGAR R. SMITH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman that if this bill were passed whether it would prevent any of the hotels from having a public dance, whether it might be for charitable purposes or otherwise. Many of the hotels have a ball at New Year's and at other times for charitable purposes. Would not this bill prevent that?

Mr. EDGAR R. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, this bill does not hinder any private dances in the hotels, only public dances.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Bedford.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bedford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDGAR R. SMITH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to define the difference between private dancing and public dancing in a hotel.

Mr. EDGAR R. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the bill specifically states that hotels and licensed saloons shall have no public dancing.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this bill has reference to a public building, a public house, as provided for by law to-day. I take it from the reading of this bill that if I step into that house, and the members of that family, belonging to the family of that landlord, are in the house, that I am a stranger in a public hotel and have no right to step into that parlor and take any part in the music, dancing or amusements. Is it possible that we are getting to that, and will not be permitted to take part in any singing or dancing, or have any recreation? There is no county in the State of Pennsylvania that has a village or borough where there is a public house that doesn't have a parlor where there is dancing and music for the purpose of entertaining the guests and friends. If you pass this measure you cannot have that in any of the parlors of the hotels. I do not think this measure should pass, and it is one that you should look into. If it should pass, in all public houses no one outside of the family of the landlord of that house could dance or sing in that house.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, it seems that the gentlemen who are trying to make the saloon respectable have introduced this bill, and I understand that it is one of a series of bills that emanates from the Liquor Dealers' Association concerning which certain members of the House yesterday received typewritten slips. I think in this case they overstepped the mark. In my own county—and I will only speak of places with which I am familiar—there is a small summer resort hotel. On various evenings of the week people go there and engage in dancing. The dance hall or ball room is entirely disconnected from the part of the hotel where liquor is sold. The amusements have been innocent and harmless. I am a local option man, as all of you know, but I am not in favor of destroying innocent amusements merely because liquor is sold in some other part of the hotel, nor am I in favor of a measure that will prevent a man and his family from going to a place and enjoying innocent dancing. Take the case of the gentleman's own county of Bedford. When the Bedford Springs Hotel enjoyed a license, there was a ball room in one end of the two or three hundred yards of buildings, and guests and their friends could go there to dance. In the other end of the building liquor was sold. Why should the automobile traveler going to such places, who knows how to behave himself, not have the right to dance there? This bill would destroy a lot of innocent amusement and will not correct any evil that I can think of, and the bill should be defeated.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

The roll was verified as follows:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1131, entitled

An Act amending section seventeen of an act entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof" approved the thirteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven prohibiting the sale of liquors during certain hours of the day.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, we have upon the statute books of this State now a law covering and providing for the same condition that this bill contains. I see it has been interlined or amended to contain the words "nor on any other time between the hours of one ante meridian and five ante meridian." I have experienced cases in our own town where we have had fierce fires and we have had to call in people from the City of Johnstown, and we called them in from every town in the county to prevent the destruction of the entire town. We sent out at 3.30 o'clock in the morning and we have had within the boundaries of our town hundreds of men who had come from a distance of eighteen to twenty miles in whatever way they could come, and brought us assistance to save the town. It was dark and it was cold and they needed the protection that they could get at the hotel, and they needed such protection as a licensed hotel under the Brook's high license law could furnish them. They were entitled to it. We called them in to save the town although we did have a loss of something like $85,000 worth of property. Was it right, would it be right, for us to pass a measure here that on an ooccasion of that kind these landlords cannot take care of those men who exposed themselves. I think not, since the courts have full power and control over this provision now. We should not deprive men who are exposed under conditions and cases of that kind and character of protection or such nourishment as they are duly entitled to after their exposure. I will say for myself on that particular occasion; at 3.30 o'clock in the morning I was soaked clean to the skin, I said clean to the skin from the outside, and I was entitled to such nourishment and protection as was proper and right upon that occasion. I only speaking for myself you might say I might have gone home. That is true, but we had men there who as I said had come from a distance of from eighteen to twenty miles and they had been soaked by the water of the hose. They were entitled to that protection and they were entitled to nourishment and they were entitled to stimulants and we were glad to give it to them because they saved our town.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if it is necessary for everybody that is soaked at 3.30 in the morning to have a drink of liquor.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. It depends on which side he is soaked.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Is there any necessity for a man, when he is exposed to danger, to have a drink, that the bars might be open so that he might get a drink?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I said nothing about danger or bars, but if the man is in need of a drink he should be able to get it.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1023, entitled

An Act making it a misdemeanor for any person under twenty-one years of age to procure or attempt to procure intoxicating liquors.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I just want to call the attention of the House to this bill, No. 1023. This is a bill making it a misdemeanor for any person under twenty-one years of age to procure or attempt to procure intoxicating liquors. By the title of it, it looks very innocent on its face, but a similar bill to this has been before almost every session of the General Assembly for a great many years, and has never been approved by the better element of the liquor dealers, and certainly has never been favored by the people generally. The trouble with this provision is that under both the Constitution of the United States and the Constituion of Pennsylvania, when a man is charged wih a crime and witnesses are called to confront him, if the testimony that the witness would give would tend to incriminate him, then he is exempt from testifying and could refuse to answer. If you pass this bill, it simply means that you close both the mouth of the guilty saloonkeeper and the mouth of the minor, and consequently you cannot convict either. I do not think that anybody who knows what this means wants this bill passed. Certainly a great number of the liquor dealers do not want it passed, and I am quite sure that if the people knew the real meaning of it they would not favor its passage. Do not pass a law, gentlemen, that would make it impossible to convict either of the offenders, and if you pass this bill that is exactly what it would mean. You will close the mouth of the minor and the mouth of every guilty person, and consequently you will have no way of convicting them.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. GEORGE J. A. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, in the absence of the sponsor of this bill, and as it is very unfair to act under these circumstances, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 17, entitled

An Act authorizing cities of he second and third classes to engage in the business of farming including dairy farming and vesting certain powers in said cities in connection therewith.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative, and the bill falls.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, this bill that was just defeated, when this bill was called I did not observe that the sponsor of the bill was absent. I understand that he has been absent from the House all day. It has been our practice in this House when a sponsor of a bill is absent, to postpone the measure. I would therefore ask that some gentleman who voted in the negative will move for a reconsideration of the vote at this time, in order to give the sponsor an opportunity on his bill and to be as fair to him as we are to ourselves.

The SPEAKER. A motion of that kind would not be in order at this time, as there has been no other business since the action on the bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1353, entitled

An Act amending an act entitled "An Act for the division of townships upon the applicaion of the owners of twenty-five per centum of the assessed valuation of the real estate thereof and prescribing the manner of holding an election upon the question of division and declaring any proceeding for a division under former laws to be no bar to a proceeding under this act."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend title page 1, line 1, by inserting before "entitled" the following: "approved the twenty-second day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five (P. L. 288)."

Amend title page 1, line 1, by inserting "providing" before "for."

Amend section 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting before "entitled" the following: "approved the twenty-second day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five (P. L. 288)."

Amend section 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting "providing" before "for."

Amend section 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out "townships" and inserting in lieu thereof "township."

Amend section 1, page 2, line 14, by striking out "of" and inserting in lieu thereof "or."

Amend section 1, page 2, line 23, by striking out "tion" and inserting in lieu thereof "tions."

Amend section 1, page 3, line 5, by inserting "the" before "authority."

Amend section 2, page 4, line 9, by striking out "That section 2" and inserting in lieu thereof "section 2. That section two of said act."

Amend section 2, page 4, line 12, by striking out "inside" and inserting in lieu thereof "outside."

Amend section 2, page 4, line 21, by inserting "if" after "and."

Amend section 2, page 5, line 27, by striking out "divisions" and inserting in lieu thereof "division."

Amend section 2, page 5, lines 18 and 19 by striking out the words "two-thirds or more" and inserting in place thereof the words "the majority."

Amend page 5, line 27, by striking out the words "two-thirds" and inserting in place thereof the words "a majority."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1072, entitled

An Act to authorize the construction of branches by railroad companies.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I notice that this bill considerably increases the powers of railroads—at least, that is my judgment—and in view of the absence of the gentleman who introduced it I move that further consideration of it be postponed for the present.

Mr. RININGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1034, entitled

An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of mutual insurance companies other than life and for the licensing and regulation of such companies from other states and to repeal existing laws.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, on account of the absence of the sponsor of this bill, I move that further consideration of it be postponed for the present.

Mr. WICKMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1135, entitled

An Act placing the control and management of county jails and prisons in the several counties of the Commonwealth, and the inmates thereof in boards of prison inspectors; providing for the appointment of such boards in each of said counties and for the regulation and government of said jails and prisons and the inmates thereof; providing for the payment of the necessary expenses for keeping, furnishing and maintaining said jails and prisons by the several counties, respectively, and prescribing the duties of the commissioners and treasurers, respectively, of said counties relative to the payment of such expenses.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Flynn,	Hoffman,	Miller, C. G.,	Sampsel,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, on April 17, Mr. Flynn, the member from Elk, introduced a motion to reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 117 was defeated. I am reported in the Legislative Journal as voting against that motion. The official records of the Chief Clerk show that I voted in favor of that motion. Therefore I enter my protest against the erroneous record.

The SPEAKER. As the records of the Chief Clerk are correct, the error is the fault of the printer.

Mr. McCURDY. I wish that to be noted in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. The matter with be noted in the Legislative Journal.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1564 (Senate Bill No. 588), entitled

An act to amend section fourteen of an act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen entitled "An Act providing for the creation and administration of a State fund for the insurance of compensation for injuries to employes of subscribers thereto declaring false oaths by the subscribers to be misdemeanors and providing penalties for the violation thereof"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, shortly after the beginning of this session a request was made upon the Insurance Commissioner to ascertain why certain business of the Insurance Department of the Commonwealth had been insured in London Lloyd's, a company which is not licensed to do business in Pennsylvania and I believe it is not a company but a partnership. It was then stated, as I recall the report, that the only risk which the Department carried in Lloyd's was a calamity and catastrophe risk which no licensed company in Pennsylvania would undertake to carry. Now I do not know whether that be true or not, but if it be true, the Department ought not to be hampered by the passage of this bill. I know nothing about it but I do wish some member of the House would say whether or not the Insurance Department of the Commonwealth correctly informed the House and let us know whether or not it would prevent that Department from insuring against catastrophe, fire, flood and the like, as I understood the report.

The SPEAKER. Is there anyone here who can explain this bill?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the remarks of the gentleman, I would move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present in order to give us a chance to look into the matter spoken of.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1566 (Senate Bill No. 770), entitled

An Act to further amend an act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a Bureau of the Department of Public Instruction; and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its minor branches may be obtained, and exemptions therefrom; and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act; and providing for revocation or suspension of licenses given by said Bureau; and providing penalties for violation thereof, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," as amended by an act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen entitled "An Act to amend title and sections three and four and five and six and nine and eleven of an act entitled "An Act relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a Bureau of the Department of Public Instruction, and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its minor branches may be obtained, and exemptions therefrom; and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act, and providing for revocation and suspension of licenses given by said Bureau; and providing penalties for violation thereof, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven by providing for further instruction prior to examination for licensure; by clarifying sections five (5) and twelve (12).

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1434 (Senate Bill No. 655), entitled

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three section six of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania so that the subject of an amendment or supplement to a law and the subject to which such law is extended or on which it is conferred shall be clearly expressed in its title

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inform the House in regard to the nature of this bill. It proposes a constitutional amendment which would require the subject of every act passed as an amendment to a general act to be expressed in the title with the same clarity that the title of any act must express its purpose when you enact a new law. So many acts have gone down before the courts and good acts at that, by reason of defective title, that this would seem to be a step in the direction of further complicating legislation. The codification of the laws relating to boroughs and townships and on other points which has progressed to a considerable degree will doubtless be carried further. Now when anyone wants to amend these acts he would have to recite the title of the original act and then the title of the proposed amendment. It would complicate legislation to a greater extent than it is now and it would make it difficult to amend acts. All of you know, no doubt, that the title of many an act covers far more in print than the act itself and this amendment if it be adopted would make the titles much longer. A short title act has been passed by this House, I am informed, and this would nullify that act to a great extent if it be passed.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. GEORGE J. A. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1093 (Senate Bill No. 171), entitled

A Supplement to the act of April twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred ninety-nine, entitled "An Act to provide for the classification of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class," providing for the election of a township solicitor in townships of the first class; fixing his term of office; prescribing his duties and qualifications and authorizing the board of township commissioners to fix his compensation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 848, entitled

An Act authorizing the attachment of wages or salary upon judgments obtained for necessaries limiting the amount of exemption to be claimed and providing for the payment of the costs

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, this is the famous garnishee bill. I have been informed that a question of constitutionality has been raised on this bill. As a consequence I have tried to get in touch with Attorney General Brown, but have been unable to do so up to this time. Under these circumstances I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. EBY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 315, entitled

An Act to further amend section thirteen of an act approved the twenty-fourth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and one) entitled "An Act to regulate nominations and elections for all elective offices of cities of the second class and all offices of judge of a court of record providing for nonpartisan nominations and elections for said offices abolishing certain existing methods of nomination in such cases and the use of party or political names or appellations at elections with respect to said offices imposing certain duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth county commissioners and election officers and clerks and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof and the punishment of certain offenses" as amended

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, at the request of the sponsor of this bill, who is absent, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. NEARY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1284, entitled

An Act to make valid acknowledgments and other notarial acts heretofore or hereafter performed by notaries public in any State or Territory of the United States or any foreign country and authorizing the recording thereof and the acceptation thereof in evidence.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to this bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, by striking out of line 6 "State or Territory or."
Also strike out on line 11 "or clerk of a."
Also strike out on line 12 "court of record."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. As this amendment is simply a strike out the bill can proceed.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 841, entitled

An Act to amend an act approved the eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and nine entitled "An Act to provide that admission now had or that may hereafter be had to practice as an attorney-at-law in the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth shall of itself without more operate as an admission of such attorney as an attorney-at-law in every other court of this Commonwealth and to provide that disbarment or suspension of any attorney by the said Supreme Court shall of itself without more operate as a disbarment or suspension of such attorney as an attorney in every other court of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1539, entitled

An Act appropriating and transferring to the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings the unexpended portions of money heretofore appropriated by the act of June sixteenth, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and twenty-seven), entitled "An Act to provide, within the following boundaries—namely: On the west, by the present eastern line of Capitol Park; on the north, by the southern line of North Street; on the east, by the western line of the right of way of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and on the south, by the northern line of Walnut street—for the extension of Capitol Park in the City of Harrisburg; and for the acquiring, taking, and condemnation of the real estate in connection therewith and within said boundaries, and for the demolition of the buildings and structures thereon; and making an appropriation therefor, and also for the expenses and cost in connection therewith," and designating the purpose for which such money shall be used.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to this bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

"and by the act approved June 18, 1915 (App Acts 291) entitled "An Act making an appropriation for the use of the Capitol Park Extension Commission."

Amend section 1, page 3, line 23, by inserting after the word "therewith" the following:

"and also all money appropriated to the Capitol Park Extension Commission by the act approved June 18, 1915 (App. Act 291) entitled "An Act making an appropriation for the use of the Capitol Park Extension Commission."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1159, entitled

An Act reappropriating and making available certain unexpended sums appropriated by the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen for the support and maintenance of the National Guard and Naval Militia for improvements at the Permanent Camp Ground at Mount Gretna Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 277, entitled

An Act to amend section twenty-one of an act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" as amended by an act approved the twenty-second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred three.)

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stern, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, I refuse to be interrogated.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I notice by the last section of this bill that it provides "that in the case of mercantile corporations subject to the payment of mercantile license tax the tax imposed by this section shall be at the rate of one mill upon each dollar of the actual value of the whole capital stock." Section 21 of the original bill provided that the assessment shall be five mills upon these corporations. Now this looks to me as though this was a revenue reducer instead of a revenue raiser.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 969, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the thirtieth day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety-three entitled "An Act providing for the acquisition by the State of certain ground at Valley Forge for a public park and making an appropriation therefor" as amended by providing for the acquisition of additional land by the Valley Forge Park Commission

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of an act approved the thirtieth day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (Pamphlet Laws one hundred eighty-three) entitled "An Act providing for the acquisition by the State of certain ground at Valley Forge for a public park and making an appropriation therefor" as amended by the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventeen) entitled "An Act amending the act entitled 'An Act amending the act entitled 'An Act providing for the acquisition by the State of certain ground at Valley Forge for a public park and making an appropriation therefor' approved May thirtieth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three providing for the acquisition of additional land and giving authority to the commissioners to deputize officers to maintain police regulation giving authority to said officers to make arrests et cetera' approved March nineteenth Anno Domini nineteen hundred and three providing for the acquisition of additional land by said Valley Forge Park Commission" which reads as follows

"That for the purpose of perpetuating and preserving the site on which the Continental Army under General George Washington was encamped in winter quarters at Valley Forge during the winter of one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven and one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight the title to and ownership in the ground covering said site including Forts Washington and Huntingdon and the entrenchments adjacent thereto and adjoining grounds in all not exceeding one thousand acres the location and boundaries thereof to be fixed by the commissioners hereafter mentioned shall be vested in the State of Pennsylvania to be laid out preserved and maintained forever as a public place or park by the name of Valley Forge so that the same and the fortifications thereon may be maintained as nearly as possible in their original condition as a military camp and may be preserved for the enjoyment of the people of the said State" is further amended to read as follows

That for the purpose of perpetuating and preserving the site on which the Continental Army under General George Washington was encamped in winter quarters at Valley Forge during the winter of one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven and one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight the title to and ownership in the ground covering said site including Forts Washington and Huntingdon and the entrenchments adjacent thereto and adjoining grounds in all not exceeding fifteen hundred acres the location and boundaries thereof to be fixed by the Commissioners of Valey Forge Park shall be vested in the State of Pennsylvania to be laid out preserved and maintained forever as a public place or park by the name of Valley Forge so that the same and the fortifications thereon may be maintained as nearly as possible in their original condition as a military camp and may be preserved for the enjoyment of the people of the said State

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and conisderation of House Bill No. 1458, entitled

An Act providing that public roads through Indian Reservations in the State of Pennsylvania shall be improved and maintained by the State Highway Department as a part of the system of State Highways.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LOHR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have the sponsor of this bill inform the House as to the extent of the roads that are now in the Indian Reservation and what would be the probable cost of constructing them and maintaining them under the provisions of this bill.

Mr. SIGGINS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I do not know that I can answer in detail the question of the gentleman from Somerset County. I will say that in years past the State has appropriated the sum of $200.00 per annum for this purpose and the supervisors have apparently deemed that a sufficient sum, consequently I presume the expense to the Commonwealth will not exceed that amount.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Section 11 The amount of damages shall within thirty days after the same have been finally ascertained be paid by the Commonwealth or the municipal division thereof to the parties entitled thereto

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ERDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Walter, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ERDMAN. Mr. Speaker, In what cases does the right to purchase or the right of taking by eminent domain apply.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inform the gentleman from Lehigh that the bill permits all road making authorities of this Commonwealth to acquire by purchase or condemnation road making materials. It applies to townships and municipalities and also gives the Highway Department of the Commonwealth the right to take such lands for public purposes, and provides a method for the assessment of dameges.

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Walter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Walter, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the principle purpose of this bill would enable the Commonwealth to take by the right of enminent domain materials from peoples' private grounds like stone and coal or anything else?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, the first section of the bill provides that buildings and land appurtenant thereto or within the curtilege even barnyards are exempt from the provisions of this act as well as any property devoted to public purposes, such as school buildings and the like.

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman. Does this bill mean that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would have the right to acquire land by eminent domain, and quarry on them?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, the Commonwealth would have to acquire the land and pay whatever a jury would say it was worth before they could so do, by exercising the right of eminent domain for that purpose.

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, I think that it would be a mistake to pass this bill at this time. I think the right of eminent domain is one of the most sacred rights that effects human interests. In ancient times the right of eminent domain was the right of the king. Having no king in this country, the government of Pennsylvania in its wisdom by a Constitution has allowed this perrogative under the Constitution for the purpose of taking for the benefit of the public the property of a private individual as long as the entire public is going to be benefited. Up to this time, Mr. Speaker, I do not know of any case except in cases of public roads or in cases for railroads, or some urgent public necessity, where the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has bone any further than to take the surface lands of a private individual. In my humble opinion I think it would be a mistake to allow the right of eminent domain to extend to the bowels of the earth and permit the State of Pennsylvania a quarry or undermine a man's property no matter what the ingredients or the material that are so mined may be required for. It may be Mr. Speaker, if this act is passed that in the next session of the Legislature, the Commonwealth already having the right to quarry on the land materials from the bowels of the earth, it might very well be that somebody might come in with an amendment to this act and ask that the right of quarrying, or the right to use the material mined or quarried be extended to be used for any other purpose than for the purpose of building public roads. I think, Mr. Speaker, it would be a move in the wrong direction to extend the right of eminent domain beneath the surface of the land, and I therefore propose to vote against this bill.

Mr. PHILLIPS. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Franklin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Franklin allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, for the present, I decline to be interrogated.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, in section two of this bill, in the first three lines, it says, "the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or any department thereof, and every municipal subdivision of the Commonwealth, whenever charged with grading, paving and macadamizing," and so forth, as you can follow. The question I wanted to ask was this: whether if the State Highway Department should let a contract to any contractor to have a certain piece of road through a certain township, and the contractor should give a bond for the faithful performance of it at a stipulated sum, whether he, the contractor, has the right to go in and enter upon any property where there may be stone, under the provisions of this act. This act would allow that contractor, who is connected with no part of the Highway Department, to condemn that stone, and use it or any other material to go into this road. What I wanted to know was whether he had that right, or whether the State Highway Department had it.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, this bill was prepared for the purpose of enabling the Commonwealth to secure road-making materials, and also counties and townships, at a reasonable price. The bill is very carefully safeguarded. It was submitted to the Attorney General, to the Deputy Attorney General who advises the Highway Department, Mr. Keller, and was amended by him, and also prepared carefully by the Legislative Reference Bureau. Now, to answer the objections as they were made. The bill specifically provides that "all lands condemned under the provisions of this act shall revert to the owners whenever the use thereof for the securing of road-building material shall have entirely ceased, whether on account of the exhaustion of such material or otherwise. This act does not authorize the taking of any such road-building material from any public property or cemetery, or the curtilage to any dwelling house or farm building."

Then succeeding sections provide for the assessment of damages. I beg to inform the gentleman from Philadelphia that at present townships have the right of eminent domain to go upon private property and take road-making material therefrom, and there is no provision for a jury assessing the damages. On the contrary, they are assessed before a justice of the peace, who names three commissioners, and from the award of that commission there is no appeal. I also beg to inform the gentleman from Philadelphia that every turnpike company chartered in this Commonwealth prior to the general turnpike law of 1849 also had the right of eminent domain to take road-building material from along its line, and those turnpike companies are—at least some of them are—a hundred years old, and that right was exercised. It was exercised with out any hardship upon anybody or without any outcry from the public. This act further safeguards the rights of land owners along turnpikes and public roads under supervision, because it exempts certain property from the operation of the act, and it also gives them the right to have the damages assessed in the court of common pleas after a trial by jury, instead of a tribunal consisting of a justice of the peace and three commissioners. Now I want to tell some of the reasons that made me think of giving this right. In the first place, there are some farmers in our county—and I do not believe the farmers are any greedier in our county than in the other counties of this State—do not sell to the supervisors at a reasonable price the stone from their lands. In the next place, the supervisors are willing and anxious to make roads and cannot do it because they must pay an exorbitant price for stone with which to improve the road. In the next place, the Highway Department has, to my knowledge, in the County of Fulton, paid to land owners to the owners of mountain land five and ten cents a perch, for moutain sandstone right along the highway, and has paid hundred of dollars to the adjoining land owners in cases where the land was not worth a dollar an acre, and that, I think, is a hold-up of the sort that this body ought not to permit. In the next place, there are places in this State where roads are to be graded and hollows filled in and the cuts made to go down the hills do not furnish sufficient material to make these fills. This act would permit them to make a borrow pit on the adjoining land and take material for the fill from that borrow pit, and that in some cases would be a necessity. If the land owner would be a man willing to hold up that improvement and extort from the Commonwealth an exorbitant price for his earth. You all know, and every lawyer in this House knows, and every layman knows, that when juries assess damages against a public body that they are liberal. It has been urged privately to me that with respect to this bill it would enable the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or counties and townships, to go some distance over a man's land from the highway. That is something that will not occur, because the greatest expense in making the road is the haulage of the material. Where they are convenient, and a team can make ten trips a day, it is many times cheaper than when they can only make two or three, and that would prevent the Highway Department, or any township or county engaged in the road-building work, from gong on a man's land a great distance. And besides, if it did, the right of way would have to be paid for just the same as the material itself. There is no snake in this bill, Mr. Speaker, there is nothing in it that will hurt anybody. With respect to the objection urged by the gentleman from Clearfield, I assure this House and the gentleman from Clearfield that this right could not be exercised by a private contractor or assigned or sublet by the Commonwealth. The Commonwealth would have to exercise that right and use the materials, and could not sell the materials so gained by condemnation. I trust, Mr. Speaker, that this House will pass this bill and permit those authorities charged with road-making to make roads and get the materials at reason-prices.

Mr. REYNOLDS. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Franklin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Franklin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know why in the first section of this proposed act the gentleman has the word "person" and the word "co-partnership" and the word "individuals."

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, that particular phraseology is not mine, but I think that I can explain it, because that is a phrase that is inserted in practically every bill, by way of definition. The Commonwealth is not a person, and that would not in any way extend the powers. It is a mere definition, and does not refer to any of those subdivisions of the Commonwealth empowered with the right of eminent domain under this bill.

Mr. REYNOLDS. If it does not refer to the counties or boroughs or other parts of the Commonwealth desiring to make the necessary improvements, then why did you put it in the bill?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I beg the gentleman's pardon. I thought I made myself clear. This bill does confer upon townships, boroughs, counties and municipalities the right to take road-making material where it exists for their purposes.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is unfortunate in having placed in this bill the words "as to individual, person and co-partnership," because the only construction that can be placed on those words is this, that you give to the municipality and then you give to a co-partnership, an individual or a person, the same right as you give to the municipality. Had the gentleman left those words out of his act it could have gone through, but I submit to you, sir, that we have before the Judiciary General Committee just such an act. That act was carefully considered by the chairman of that committee and the gentlemen composing that committee, and that was a Senate bill, and that committee, after careful consideration, reported to this House, with a negative recommendation, this bill, and for the reason, Mr. Speaker, that our Supreme and Superior Courts have decided, time and time again, that you cannot give to the individual or to a corporation or to a co-partnership the right of eminent domain, nor can you give to a quasi public corporation such a right, nor can you give such a right to a public corporation unless it is included in its charter and granted by the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, you can do nothing else with this bill in the way it is framed at the present time except to defeat it. It is not necessary for me to call attention to the brief which I prepared for the Judiciary General Committee at the time of going into this matter. I think my word will be sufficient in saying to you that I have a number of cases, and they could be substantiated by any of the members of this committee, which would show to you that this bill is so clearly unconstitutional that we must defeat it.

Mr. WOBENSMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am somewhat surprised at my good friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Reynolds, criticizing this bill because of the definition of the word "person" which if he would read the rest of the bill shows it refers to the person from whom the road-making material was to be obtained and not the right of the Commonwealth or any municipality thereof.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, there was no such intention and it is my belief that the bill does not confer any right except upon public municipal corporations in this Commonwealth, but in view of the doubt that has been suggested by my friend from Philadelphia, I will move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present and I will amend it so that there can be no possible doubt about it.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion to postpone further consideration of this bill.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 790, entitled

An Act to amend section two of an act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven entitled "An Act to provide revenue by taxation."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, a few moments ago further consideration was postponed for the present on House Bill No. 277, File Folio 4119, on top of page 25 of to-day's calendar, entitled

An Act to amend section twenty-one of an act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" as amended by an act approved the twenty-second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred three.)

I now rise for the purpose of moving that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for a hearing.

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1425, entitled

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

On the question,

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponsor of this bill the purpose of it.

Mr. SIGGINS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this bill is a bill prepared by the State Highway Department. At the present time the law relating to the Bureau of Township Highways and the township laws are interwoven. The Township Code was prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau and they deem it wise to separate the law relating to the Bureau of Highways from the township laws, consequently, the township laws were placed in a code and the law in regard to the Bureau of Township Highways was placed in this bill. It is a companion bill to the Township Code and is not supposed to contain any new law. It is supposed to be declaratory of existing laws.

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Siggins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Siggins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SIGGINS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman how many new positions this bill provides for.

Mr. SIGGINS. Mr. Speaker, it is not supposed to provide for any, as I understand it.

Mr. COOK. For what purpose then is the bill?

Mr. SIGGINS. I just got through stating that the purpose of the bill is to separate the Bureau of Highway Law from the Township Law. It has been placed in two bills; this bill and the Township Code Bill, both being declaratory under the existing law.

Mr. COOK. Is it not a fact that the State Highway Department claims that their treasury is depleted already?

Mr. SIGGINS. I don't think that the interrogator gets the purpose for which this bill is intended. It simply leaves the law as it has been before. It is put in this form so as to keep it entirely distinct from the Township Law, which was placed in codified form in the Township Code.

Mr. COOK. Does this creat any new positions.

Mr. SIGGINS. I understand it does not.

Mr. COOK. Will the gentleman say yes or no.

Mr. SIGGINS. No. From the best information I am able to obtain from the State Highway Department.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. SWARTZ asked and received unanimous consent to call up Senate Bill No. 216 (House Bill No. 1565), on page 27 of to-day's calendar bills on third reading, for the purpose of amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1565 (Senate Bill No. 216), entitled

An Act relating to the salaries and expenses of the examiners in the Department of Banking.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to this bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 1, line 5, page 1, by inserting after the word "shall" the following:

"in the discretion of the Commissioner of Banking."

Amend section 1, page 1, line 7, by striking out after the word "salary" the word "of" and inserting "not to exceed."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. STERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to call up at this time Senate Bill No. 792 (House Bill No. 1557), entitled

An Act authorizing and empowering the several counties of this Commonwealth to locate, lay out, open, construct and maintain public bridges whether wholly or partly within any city, borough or township therein, across any river or stream dividing or separating any part of said county from any other part thereof, together with the necessary bridge approaches, viaduct or other approaches, to conveniently connect the same with existing streets or public roads in such cities, boroughs or townships; authorizing the cities and boroughs wherein such bridges are located, to share in the cost thereof and to provide approaches therefor; authorizing the taking and appropriation of property and rights of property, public or private, for such purposes; providing a method for making compensation for property taken, injured or destroyed thereby; authorizing the several counties to enter upon and over public streets or roads in cities, boroughs or townships for said purposes; authorizing the several counties to appropriate money, levy taxes and incur indebtedness therefor; and authorizing the several counties to charge and collect tolls and rentals for the concurrent use of such bridges and approaches by street railway, telegraph, telephone or other corporations or persons making use thereof other than for ordinary foot or vehicle traffic and to enter into contracts for such use.

on page 29 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading, and move that it be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. CROSBY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House give unanimous consent?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I regret to oppose this request of my friend from Philadelphia. I think that sufficient time has been had for a hearing on this bill. The only purpose now in its recommittal, to my mind, is in order that the final action on this bill may be delayed. I therefore ask the House not to give its consent. This is a Senate bill and sufficient opportunity has been had for a hearing. Their desire, and the purpose as I stated before, I recognize as one for delay.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman object?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and unanimous consent is not granted.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1917 — 122nd of the General Assembly

VOL. 4. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1917. No. 53.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, May 10, 1917.

The House met at 10 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Richard J. Baldwin) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. S. G. Zerfass, offered the following prayer:

Great God, the creator and preserver of the universe, we recognize Thee as the fountain head of all good and desire to acknowledge Thy power and majesty in all that we may think or do or say. This beautiful morning, cause us all to see Thee in the realm of nature, where life, beauty and fragrance are springing forth to give sustenances, pleasure, hope and highest joy to us, Thy creatures. May we assimilate divine aspiration and lofty ambition, and eliminate all the evil inclinations of humanity and the dross of daily temptations. Thy most Holy Name be praised, and draw us ever nearer to Thee. Give us right conception of our duties and grant us courageous lives to demonstrate our happiness by right living and renew our efforts to cheerfully live the life of love without dissimilation, and so finaly lead us to a blessed immortality, is the prayer of Thy poor humble servant. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

Whereas The terms of certain mine inspectors expired on the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred and sixteen and their successors should have been elected at the municipal election in the year one thousand nine hundred fifteen and

Whereas It has been held by the courts that mine inspectors are State officers and can be elected only in even-numbered years which construction prevented the election of mine inspectors in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen and continued in office certain mine ispectors one year beyond the term for which they were elected and

Whereas By such failure to elect certain mine inspectors were deprived of the additional salary contemplated by said act of June third one thousand nine hundred fifteen therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That every person who held the office of mine inspector on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and sixteen and whose term of office would have regularly expired on that date but who held over by reason of the fact that no successor could be legally chosen at the municipal election of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen shall be paid the following sum of money in addition to any money which any such person has already received as compensation for his services that is to say

If any such person exercised the powers and performed the duties of mine inspector during the entire year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen he shall be paid the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars

If any such person exercised the powers and performed the duties of mine inspector during a part only of the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen he shall be paid such amount as shall be found multiplying the total number of days Sundays and legal holidays inclusive in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen on which such person so exercised and performed such powers and duties by five hundred and dividing the product so obtained by three hundred and sixty-five

Section 2 Such money shall be paid to any such inspector by the Chief of the Department of Mines out of the money hereinafter appropriated

Section 3 The sum of nine thousand five hundred ($9,500) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated for the purposes of this act Such appropriation shall be paid by the State Treasurer to the Chief of the Department of Mines on warrant of the Auditor General

Section 4 It is the purpose of this act to reimburse such mine inspectors for loss of part of their salaries as fixed by an act approved June third one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred ninety) entitled "An Act fixing the salaries of mine inspectors in this Commonwealth and the expenses incident to the office" and which loss of salary was occasioned by failure to elect their successors in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen

Section 4 That section three huidred and three of said act which reads as follows

"Section 303 Such agreement shall constitute an acceptance of all the provisons of article three of this act and shall operate as a surrender by the parties thereto of their rights to any form or amount of compensation or damages for any injury or death occurring in the course of the employment or to any method of determination thereof other than as provided in article three of this act Such agreement shall bind the employer and his personal representatives and the employee his or her wife or husband widow or widower next of kin and other dependents" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 303 Such agreement shall constitute an acceptance of all the provisions of article three of this act and shall operate as a surrender by the parties thereto to their rights to any form or amount of compensation or damages for any injury or death occurring in the course of the employment or to any method of determination thereof other than as provided in article three of this act Such agreement shall bind the employer and his personal representatives and the employe his or her wife or husband widow or widower father or mother next of kin and other persons having a right of action at law for the injury or death or such employe unless such wife husband widow widower father or mother next of kin or other person shall have given notice in writing to the employer to the effect that such agreement shall not bind him or her and shall have filed with the bureau within ten days of the giving of such notice and not less than thirty days before the accident a copy of the said notice together with the proof of service upon the employer setting forth upon oath and affirmation the time place and manner of such service

Section 5 That section three hundred and five of said act which reads as follows

"Section 305 Every employer liable under this act to pay compensation shall insure the payment of compensation in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund or in any insurance company or mutual association or company authorized to insure such liability in this Commonwealth unless such employer shall be exempted by the bureau from such insurance An employer desiring to be exempt from insuring the whole or any part of his liability for compensation shall make application to the Bureau showing his financial ability to pay such compensation whereupon the bureau if satisfied of the applicant's financial ability shall by written order make such exemption The bureau may from time to time require further statements of the financial ability of such employer and if at any time such employer appear no longer able to pay compensation shall revoke its order granting exemption in which case the employer shall immediately subscribe to the State fund or insure his liability in a mutual association or company as aforesaid

("If an employer shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section the bureau shall by registered mail or in such other manner as the rules and regulations of the bureau shall provide serve upon such employer a notice to forthwith comply with such provisions and if such employer does not within thirty days thereafter insure his liability as aforesaid or satisfy the bureau of his financial ability to pay compensation as aforesaid or does not terminate his acceptance of article three of this act in the manner provided in section three hundred and four of the said article such employer shall be liable for compensation under article three of this act to any employe injured thereafter or to his personal representative or for damages under article two of this act at the option of such employe or his personal representatives Provided that such option be exercised by the employe and written notice given to the employer within thirty days after the accident And provided further That until the expiration of the said thirty days from the giving of the notice by the bureau the employer shall be liable only for compensation under article three of this act and that if he shall terminate his acceptance under section three hundred and four of article three of this act he shall be liable only for compensation under article three of this act until such termination of acceptance shall become effective") is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 305 Every employer liable under this act to pay compensation shall insure the payment of compensation in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund or in any insurance company mutual association or company authorized to insure such liability in this Commonwealth unless such employer shall be exempted by the board from such insurance An employer desiring to be exempt from insuring the whole or any part of his liability for compensation shall make application to the board showing his financial ability to pay such compensation whereupon the board if satisfied of the applicant's financial ability shall by written order make such exemption

As a condition to granting any exemption from insurance or after exemption has been granted the board may require any employer to deposit with it money or satisfactory securities in an amount sufficient in the opinion of the board to secure the payment of compensation to the employes of such employer or the dependents thereof or to file with the board the bond of a surety company approved by the board guaranteeing the payment of such compensation

The board may from time to time require any employer who shall have been exempted from insurance to set aside in a trust fund or to deposit with the State Treasurer as a reserve to carry to maturity compensation claims against it such sums of money as the Insurance Department of the Commonwealth would require an insurance company to set aside as a reserve to carry to maturity similar claims against such company

The board may revoke its order exempting any employer from insurance if satisfied that the employer is for the purpose of reducing his liability under the act discriminating against any employe or has discharged or refused to employ any person because of the physical condition of such employe or person or because of the number of persons dependent upon such employe or person for support and the board may also revoke its order exempting any employer from insurance if such employer shall without just cause or excuse delay or neglect to pay any compensation which it is liable to pay under any agreement approved by the board or any award by the board or a referee or shall refuse or neglect to comply with any order made by the board under the powers conferred upon it by this section

The board may from time to time require further statement of the financial ability of such employer and if at any time such employer appear no longer able to pay compensation shall revoke its order granting exemption in which case the employer shall immediately subscribe to the State Fund or insure his liability in an insurance company or mutual association or company as aforesaid

It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Labor and Industry and his deputies to enforce the provisions of this section requiring employers to insure They shall investigate all complaints of violations of such requirement received by them and shall institute prosecutions for violations thereof Such prosecutions shall be instituted before a magistrate alderman or justice of the peace who shall issue a summons commanding the person charged with the violation of such requirement to appear within not less than five or more than eight days Upon conviction after hearing the penalties hereinafter provided shall be imposed and shall be final unless within twenty days an appeal be taken to the court of the proper jurisdiction in such manner as is now or may hereafter be provided by law governing appeals from penalties

Any employer who shall fail or neglect to insure or to procure an exemption from insurance as provided in this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor Upon conviction he shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars and whenever any employer shall have been notified by the board to insure or procure an exempton from insurance such employer shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of two dollars per week for each and every person who shall have been employed by him subsequent to the service of notice by the board and during such time as he shall have failed to comply with the provisions of this section

Section 6 That section three hundred and seven of said act sub-section nine which reads as follows

"9 Whether or not there be dependents as aforesaid the reasonable expense of (the last sickness and) burial not exceeding one hundred dollars (without deduction of any amounts theretofore paid for compensation or for medical expenses) (payable to the dependents or if there be no dependents then to the personal representative of the deceased" is hereby amended to read as follows

9 Whether or not there be dependents as aforesaid the reasonable expenses of burial not exceeding one hundred dollars without deduction of any amounts theretofore paid for compensation or for medical expenses

Such sum shall be paid to the dependents or to the personal representatives of the deceased if they or he shall have actually paid the said expenses but if such expenses have not actually been paid they shall be payable directly to such person or persons as shall have furnished the burial under circumstances entitling them to recover the cost thereof from the estate of the decedent and in all such cases compensation agreements or awards of compensation shall so provide Provided however That if such reasonable expenses of burial shall exceed one hundred dollars the said sum shall be divided pro rata among the persons entitled thereto

If there be a widow or widower and a child or children by a former marriage the amount payable on account of such child or children shall be paid to the guardian or guardians of such child or children

If a widow or widower to who compensation is payable on account of a child or children shall desert or neglect to support or fail to provide for such child or children the board may order the compensation payable on account of such child or children to be paid to the guardian of such child or children or to such other persons as the board may designate as hereinafter provided

If there be no guardian of any child or brother or sister on whose account compensation is payable the amount payable on account of such child or brother or sister may be paid to any surviving parent or to such other person as the board may by special order direct and the board may require any person other than a guardian to whom it has directed compensation for a child or brother or sister to be paid to render as and when it shall so order accounts of the receipts and disbursements of such person and to file with it a satisfactory bond in a sum sufficient to secure the proper application of the monies received by such person

A father or mother shall be presumed to be dependent upon a child who at the time of the accident was a member of the household of such father or mother and who had contributed and substantial part of his or her wages to the maintenance thereof during any part of the six months immediately preceding the accident

Section 7 That section three hundred and nine of said act which reads as follows

"Section 309 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident and shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall it include board lodging or similar advantages received from the employer unless the money value of such advantages shall have been fixed by the parties at the time of hiring nor shall it include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor material supplies tools or other things furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe In occupations involving seasonal employment or employment dependent upon the weather the employes weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employments if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day of ordinary length excluding earnings from overtime and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 309 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident and shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall it include board lodging or similar advantages received from the employer unless the money value of such advantages shall have been fixed by the parties at the time of hiring nor shall it include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor material supplies tools or other things furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe In seasonal temporary intermittent or recurrent occupations the employes weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings

In occupations other than seasonal the employes weekly wages shall be ascertained by dividing the total amount earned by him during so much of the preceding six months as he shall have worked for the same employer under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident by the number of calendar weeks in such period unless by reason of exceptional causes this method of computation does not fairly ascertain the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation may be extended or diminshed by agreement of the parties approved by the board or by a referee or the board so as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings Where by reason of the shortness of the time during which the employe has been in the employment of the employer or the nature or terms of the employment it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the injury has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring or if there are no persons so employed by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages when the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

Section 8 That so much of section three hundred and ten of said act which reads as follows

"Section 310 Compensation under this article to alien dependent widows and children (not residents of the United States) shall be two-thirds of the amount provided in each case for residents and the employer may at any time commute all future installments of compensation payable to alien dependents not residents of the United States by paying to such alien dependents the then value thereof calculated in accordance with the provisions of section three hundred and sixteen of this article Alien widowers parents brothers and sisters not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to any compensation" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 310 Compensation under this article to alien dependent widows and children during such time as they are not residents of the United States shall be two-thirds of the amount provided in each case for residents and the employer may at any time commute all future installments of compensation payable to alien dependents not residents of the United States by paying to such alien dependents the then value thereof calculated in accordance with the provisions of section three hundred and sixteen of this article Alien widowers parents brothers and sisters not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to any compensation

Section 9 That section three hundred and fifteen of said act which reads as follows

"Section 315 In cases of personal injury all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the accident the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within one year after the accident one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof In case of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within one year after the death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made (in any case) said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of one year from the time of the making of the last payment" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 315 In cases of personal injury all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the accident the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within one year after the accident one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within one year after the death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Provided however That the consular representative of the nation of which deceased employe was a citizen or subject may file with the board a petition setting forth there are dependents whose identity is not known to him and setting forth his reasons for so believing in which case the board may extend the time in which such agreement may be executed or such petition may be filed for such period as may in its opinion be necessary to enable such consular representative to ascertain the identity of such dependent or dependents Where however payments of compensation have been made to any employe or his dependents said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of one year from the time of the making of the last payment

Section 10 That section three hundred and sixteen of said act which reads as follows

"Section 316 The compensation contemplated by this article may at any time be commuted by the board at its then value when discounted at (five) per centum interest with annual rests disregarding the probability of the beneficiarys death upon application of either party with due notice to the other if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe and that it will avoid undue expense or undue hardship to either party or that such (employe or) dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business (or) assets Except as provided in section three hundred and ten hereof and in this section no commutation of compensation shall be made" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 316 The compensation contemplated by this article or any part thereof may at any time be commuted by the board at its then value when discounted at four per centum interest with annual rests disregarding the probability of the beneficiary's death upon application of either party with due notice to the other for the purpose of providing for the payment of any sum due for legal and other services under a claim or agreement therefor approved by the board under the provisions of section five hundred and one of this act or if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employe or teh dependents of the deceased employe and that it will avoid due expense or undue hardship to either party or that such dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business as assets Except as provided in section three hundred and ten hereof and in this section no commutation of compensation shall be made

Section 11 That section three hundred and nineteen of said act which reads as follows

"Section 319 (Where a third person is liable to the employe or the dependents for the injury or death the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employe or to the the dependents against such third person but only to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation theretofore paid by the employr shall be paid forthwith to the employe or to the dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future in stallments of compensation" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 319 If an employe while in the course of his employment be injured or killed by an act or omission of a third person the right to the compensation provided in this article and the right of action against such third person to recover damages for the injury or death shall be concurrent and cumulative The filing of a claim petition or the payment of compensation under an award thereon or under a compensation agreement to the employe or other person entitled to compenstion under the provisions of this article shall not destroy or affect the right of such employe or other person to bring an action at law against such third person to recover damages for the injury or death of such employe nor shall the bringing of such an action nor the recovery of damages therein nor the receipt of any sum in settlement of any claim against such third person in respect to the injury or death destroy or affect the right of the employe or other person entitled to compensation to enforce their right thereto except as hereinafter expressly provided

VOL. 4. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MAY 14, 1917. No. 54.

SENATE.

MONDAY, May 14, 1917.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Frank B. McClain) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

We are grateful to Thee, Almighty God, for all the blessings of life, and especially the blessing of health. For this reason we are very sad to-night because of the illness that has come into the home of our beloved Senator, William E. Crow. We pray that Thy blessing may be with his wife and his children, who have been visited with serious illness, and that Thy blessing may be with their physician and with those who have them in care, so that they shall be able to do the very best thing for their comfort and for their speedy recovery. We ask that Thy blessing may be with all of us, in all the affairs of our lives, and help us to live to Thy glory, and to the best good of our fellow men. These blessings we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. ENDSLEY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO 681.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 10, 1917.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen. I return herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 681, entitled "An Act to fix the pay of election officers in cities of the first and second class."

This bill increases the pay of election officers in cities of the first and second class from five (5) to ten (10) dollars per day. The duties of election officers in the municipal units above recited are no more onerous than these duties elsewhere. There is no reason for this difference and no valid reason for any increase. These officers ought to act from a sense of public duty and not for the compensation.

For these reasons this bill is not approved.

MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. SEMMONS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 581.

He also laid before the Senate communication, in writing, from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 10, 1917.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen. I return herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 581, entitled "An Act empowering certain corporations societies and voluntary associations having subordinate lodges or branches within this Commonwealth to change the location of their principal office or place of business and providing for their approval by the Court of Common Pleas and the filing of notice of such changes."

On June 7, 1915, in a message filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth I set forth my objections to the approval of a bill that with one exception contained the same provisions as this bill. The added feature in this bill is the provision that the removal of the principal office shall have the approval of the Court of Common Pleas of the county where the principal office is now located. Even this check does not remove the objection to this legislation. It is questionable in law whether a court of one county can authorize a change by which a corporation may be domiciled within the jurisdiction of another court (See 216 Pa. 630). Under many decisions of the courts it is held that a corporation has no power to change its place of business from one county to another, and these decisions confirm the wisdom of preventing corporations of the kind defined to move at will or to move by court sanction. The result would be confusion, lack of responsibility, general disadvantage to the people concerned and a departure from time-approved procedure generally affective in corporate law.

For these reasons this bill is not approved.

MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. ENDSLEY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 502.

He also laid before the Senate communication, in writing, from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 10, 1917.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen. I return herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 502, entitled "An Act entitled 'An Act requiring the court committing any insane person to an institution of this Commonwealth to certify the proceedings upon which commitment was made to the superintendent of the said institution.' "

This bill requires the court which commits an insane person to any institution in this Commonwealth to certify to the superintendent of the institution all of the proceedings including the papers and testimony and the reasons for such commitment. Should such person subsequently be transferred to another institution the superintendent of the former institution shall give to the superintendent of the latter institution a second copy of all the papers and testimony on file.

All these records are now open and available for examination by any interested person and the salient facts that may have value to the alienist can readily be obtained. The expense of the procedure required by this bill is unnecessarily burdensome. Much of the testimony that would thus be transmitted would be of no value. The only reason for commitment is of course the fact that he is insane. Otherwise he could not be committed. This is therefore needless. To increase labor and expense with no correspondingly good is unwise.

For these reasons this bill is not approved.

MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. LYNCH. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 490.

He also laid before the Senate communication, in writing, from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 10, 1917

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 490, entitled "An Act authorizing cities and boroughs to refund moneys paid by property owners into their treasuries when a court of competent jurisdiction shall have determined that there is no liability for such payment."

This Bill authorizes and empowers cities and boroughs that have collected street assessments from property owners for street improvements to refund the same when a court determines that such assessment was improperly made or could not be legally enforced. Such assessments are by law permitted now. If by carelessness or oversight the city or borough authorities find their procedure negatived by the courts it is scarcely necessary to ask the Assembly to grant power to repay the parties that paid and did not appeal to the Court. The fault does not lie in the law now operative, nor in the courts but in the local government concerned. The improvements have been made. Those paying the assessment have received the full measure of improvement for which they were assessed. Those appealing to the Courts and escaping the payment of the assessment are evading a public duty by taking advantage of municipal laxity. The municipality should not have its treasury impaired because the officers did not safeguard the municipality. Carelessness is no excuse for legislation.

For these reasons this Bill is not approved.

MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. CATLIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 263.

He also laid before the Senate communication, in writing, from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 10, 1917.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 263, entitled "An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven entitled 'An act to authorize the courts of common pleas to decree the sale of real estate held for poor purposes in the several counties boroughs townships and poor districts in this Commonwealth and the reinvestment of the proceeds thereof,' by extending the provisions of the act to include the sale of real property of the Commonwealth reserved for the use of a poor district."

This Bill amends the act of April 21, 1887 (P. L. 75) by including in the properties that may be sold under court decree for the use of a poor district real estate reserved by the Commonwealth for use as a poor farm. It authorizes the court to decree sale and confirm title to property now in the name of the Commonwealth. This is unquestionably a very special case and it may be much more widely applicable than the case intended to be met. Such special laws as a rule are poor policy. I am not convinced of the necessity of this Act and am opposed to the plan of amending genuine laws so as to have them apply to some exceptional case. The relief sought, if necessary, should be sought in some other way. It is unwise to generalize a local situation by law when the general field so covered is unknown.

For these reasons this bill is not approved.

MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. NASON. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 180.

He also laid before the Senate communication, in writing, from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 10, 1917.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 180, entitled "An Act granting compensation as provided for in the Workmen's Compensation act of one thousand nine hundred fifteen to the family of the late Joseph McHugh of Weatherly employed as a game warden and killed while in the performance of his duties."

This Bill grants compensation as provided by the Workmen's Compensation Act of 1915 to the family of the late Joseph McHugh of Weatherly, Pa., who was killed while in the discharge of his duties as a game warden. His killing occurred before the Workmen's Compensation Act went into force.

The purpose is most commendable. This faithful official was killed when in the performance of his duties. His family is no doubt deserving and they deserve every assistance compatible with law. But this Bill is in violation of Art. III, Sec. 18 of the Constitution. It provides in effect a gratuity or pension. This is specifically forbidden. If the Bill were approved and an award made the Auditor General would by law be compelled to surcharge the same.

The purpose is so manifestly humane that it is a painful duty to disapprove this Bill, and I trust that some other means may be found to care for the dependents of this man who lost his life in the performance of his public duty.

For these reasons this Bill is not approved.

MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH.

Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 121.

He also laid before the Senate communication, in writing, from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 10, 1917.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 121, entitled "An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same and providing the method of furnishing evidence of said destruction and penalties for the violation of the several provisions hereof."

This bill supplants present law in respect to the bounty paid for the destruction of noxious animals and the method of paying such bounty. I was advised of the fact that a new method of bounty payments was contemplated. I was not advised of the increases in the sums paid as bounty for the killing of Bay Lynx and Weasel.

The new method of payment is undoubtedly more direct and more speedy than the method now in force. Were the bill limited to the change it would have hearty approval. My objection is to the increase of the bounty money—the lure of idle and irresponsible persons to waste their time in the woods instead of working in our industries and adding to the wealth of the Commonwealth.

Forest fires of great destructive value are among the fruits of this uneconomic procedure. The menace to protected and harmless life is also augmented. The unnecessary drains upon the hunters' license fund also follows. These noxious animals are by no means so destructive as they are by some held to be. In fact nature's balancing of life undisturbed by man is on the whole wise and good.

I am heartily in favor of legitimate sport and am always in sympathy with such legislation as will attract busy and faithful citizens at the proper season away from the daily duties of life and out into the beautiful, wonderful out-of-doors. I am equally opposed to any enactment that keeps men in the woods all the time seeking to make a precarious living in a manner neither commendable nor economically wise. I regret that an improvement in departmental service is so tied in with a principle of bounty compensation that the former loses to the latter.

For these reasons this bill is not approved.

RESOLUTION FOR FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

He also laid before the Senate extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives.
Harrisburg, Pa., May 14th, 1917.

Gentlemen: Your Committee in pursuance to the statement made in the report of May 8th, 1917, further report that we find there are in Committees at this date a total of about eighteen hundred and fifty bills. Some of these are duplicate bills in the different bodies, leaving probably about fifteen hundred bills still in Committee.

After a careful inquiry from the different Chairmen, (aside from the Appropriation Bills) there are probably three or four hundred bills of sufficient importance to be reported for consideration.

Your Committee does not want to be understood as assuring the Legislature that the 14th of June would be a proper date for adjournment. It does, however, conclude upon the information obtained, that the House could wisely fix this date at this time; subject to the approval of the Senate. This suggestion is based upon the presumption that the membership from this forward give full attendance at all sessions, so as to avoid re-consideration, which so frequently retards action upon other Legislative matters.

We, therefore, present the following resolution for consideration of the House at this time:

"Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly adjourn sine die at high noon June fourteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen (1917).

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read be referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 805, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the improvement of the highways of the Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That section four of article nine which reads as follows
"Section 4 No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue repel invasions suppress insurrection defend the State in war or to pay existing debt and the debt created to supply deficiency in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate at any one time one million dollars" be amended so as to read as follows

Section 4 No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue repel invasions suppress insurrection defend the State in war or to pay existing debt and the debt created to supply deficiency in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate at any one time one million dollars Provided however That the General Assembly irrespective of any debt may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth

Section 2 Said proposed amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at the general election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen for the purpose of deciding upon the approval and ratification or the rejection of said amendment Said election shall be opened held and closed upon said election day at the places and within the hours at and within which said elections is directed to be opened held and closed and in accordance with the provisions of the laws of Pennsylvania governing elections and amendments thereto Such amendment shall be printed upon the ballots in the form and manner prescribed by the election laws of Pennsylvania and shall in all respects conform to the requirements of such laws

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill?
Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I am obliged again to ask unanimous consent to amend this bill on account of errors made by the printer, on account of glaring typographical errors. It had to be amended on Wednesday, and now they have misprinted the reprint, and so I have to ask again for unanimous consent to amend section 1, page 1, line 2, by inserting after the word "Assembly" the words "met that;" also line 9, by striking out the word "invation" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "invasion."
The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.
The amendment was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?
It was agreed to.
Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 865, entitled

An Act to authorize corporations organized for profit under the laws of Pennsylvania to continue the salaries of employes enlisting or enrolling in any branch of the military or naval service of the United States or other protective organizations.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Sproul.
The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, permit himself to be interrogated?
Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, gladly, sir.
Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, do not corporations for profit have the same rights now as this bill will give them if enacted into a law?
Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, there is some question as to the right of corporations to expend money which belongs to their stockholders in payment of anything except services rendered, and it may be held—in fact it has been held, and the question has been raised, as to whether these payments to employes who are in the National service are not in the nature of gifts rather than payments for service.
Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, one more question.
The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, permit himself to be further interrogated?
Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I will.
Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, then would you care to change the word "may" to "shall?"

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, no, I would not care to do that, because that would make it mandatory and some corporations might not afford to do it. There might be a corporation that had five employes and they would all enlist and to pay all of them they would have great difficulty. I do not think you could compel them to do it.

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, one more question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, then this bill gives them the right?

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, gives them the right to do it if they desire. That is all.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—37.

Baldwin,	Hindman,	Nason,	Stewart,
Beidleman,	Homsher,	Patton,	Tompkins,

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. NASON. Mr. President, It seems to me that this is a dangerous bill. A man who has a property in the central part of a town can evade the payment of tax by simply using that piece of ground for a private playground. A man can spend less than one hundred dollars and make thousands of dollars worth of property exempt from taxation. It would permit some men to avoid the payment of tax at a very small investment in equipment for a playground. It would work a very great hardship in our city if that were taken advantage of. As far as exempting real playgrounds from taxation is concerned, it might be all right, but the limitations under this bill are not sufficient for me to vote for the bill and I shall therefore vote against it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1024, entitled

An Act providing for the payment of consequential damages arising from the taking injury or destruction of private property by municipal corporations in the construction or enlargement of their works highways or improvements

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. PATTON. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. SONES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1025, entitled

An Act amending Section one of the Act of June twenty-three one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and forty-five) entitled "An Act to protect oil gas and water wells tanks pipes and machinery connected therewith and to prevent wilful and malicious injury thereto" extending the provisions thereof to reservoirs standpipes pumping stations power houses and other buildings or appliances used for the supply of water or electric current

If the building is six (6) and less than twelve (12) stories in height the diameter shall be not less than five (5) inches if more than twelve (12) stories it shall be six (6) inches in diameter A building six or more stories in height with fixtures located below the sixth floor soil-pipe four (4) inches in diameter will be allowed to extend through the roof provided the number of fixtures does not exceed the number given in the table

All soil-pipes must extend at least two feet above the roof and must not be reduced in size Traps will not be permitted on main vertical soil or waste lines Each house must have a separate line of soil and vent-pipes No soil or waste line shall be constructed on the outside of building

Fixtures with
One and one-quarter inch traps count as one fixture
One and one-half inch traps count as one fixture
Two-inch traps count as two fixtures
Two and one-half inch traps count as three fixtures
Three inch traps (water-closets) count as four fixtures
Four-inch traps count as five fixtures

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, I move to amend section 11, page 24, line 17, by inserting before the word "it" the word "stories"; also line 21, by striking out "fixutres" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "fixtures"; also page 25, line 1, by striking out the word "vent-pipe" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "vent-pipes"; also line 2, by inserting "a" before the word "building"; also page 26, line 10, by inserting "a" before the word "building."

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?
It was agreed to.

The twelfth section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 12 That section twenty-six of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Changes in Direction

"Section 26 All sewer soil and waste pipes must be as direct as possible Changes in direction must be made with 'Y' or half 'Y' branches or one-eight bends Offsets in soil or waste pipes will not be permitted when they can be avoided nor in any case unless suitable provision is made to prevent accumulation of rust or other obstruction Offsets shall be made with forty-five degree bends or similar fittings The use of T 'Y's' (Sanitary T's) will be permitted on upright lines only" be and the same is hereby amended as follows

Change in Direction

Section 26 All sewer soil or waste pipes must be as direct as possible Changes in direction must be made with "Y" or half "Y" branches or one-eight bends Offsets in soil or waste pipes will not be permitted when they can be avoided nor in any case unless suitable provision is made to prevent accumulation of rust or other obstruction Offsets shall be made with forty-five degree bends or similar fittings The use of T "Y's" (Sanitary "T's") will be permitted on upright lines only The use of saddles or the tapping of soil waste or vent pipes is prohibited unless their use is proven to be absolutely necessary.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, I move to amend section 12, page 26, line 23, by striking out the word "one-eight" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "one-eighth"; also page 27, line 3, by inserting before the word "as" the words "to read"; also line 7, by striking out "one-eight" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "one-eighth."

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?
It was agreed to.

The thirteenth section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 13 That section twenty-seven of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Joints for Soil and Waste Pipes

"Section 27 Joints in cast-iron pipes and soil and waste-pipes must be so filled with oakum and lead and hand-caulked as to make them gas-tight Connections of lead and cast-iron pipes must be made with brass sleeve or ferrule of the same size as the lead pipe inserted in the hub of the iron pipe and caulked with lead The lead pipe must be attached to the ferrule by wiped joint Joints between lead and wrought iron pipes must be made with brass nipple of same size as lead pipe The lead pipe must be attached to the nipple by wiped joints All connections of lead waste pipe must be made by means of wiped joints" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Joints and Connections

Section 27 All joints and connections prescribed under this title shall be made gas and water tight Joints in galvanized iron mild steel or brass pipe shall be standard screw joints and all burs or cuttings shall be removed

Connections between the sewer side of all plumbing fixture traps and the drainage system shall be made by means of plumbers' wiped joint caulked joint or screw threaded joint or ground metal to metal joints and such joints shall be of as permanent a nature as any portion of the drainage system No putty cement slip joints or composition joints shall be permitted on the sewer side of any trap All joints shall be made up with an approved sealing material Connections between wrought iron mild steel or brass to cast iron shall be either a caulked joint or screwed joint

All unions used on the sewer side of traps shall be ground faced and shall not be concealed or enclosed No slip joint connection will be allowed on the sewer side of the trap

Lead pipe joints in lead pipe or between lead pipes and pipes of brass or copper shall have an exposed surface of the solder to each side of the joint of at least three-quarters (¾) of an inch Joints between lead and iron pipes shall be made by extra heavy cast or drawn screw nipple with either a caulked joint or a soldered nipple with a treaded joint or approved concaved brass bushings

Where cup or similar ferrules are used they shall extend not less than one-quarter (¼) inch above the hub

Where different sizes of pipe or pipes and fittings are to be connected proper size increasers or reducers pitched to an angle of forty-five degrees between the two sizes shall be used

Connections or joints on all sewer soil waste vent and conductor pipes in any and all buildings shall be locked together with material that has a strength equalling the strength of the material used in the wall of the pipe The joints or connections shall be locked together by members which engage oblique surfaces between the hub and pipe all such locking members being independent of the material with which the joints are sealed Joints shall show no signs of failure and shall not develop leaks under a stress that will rupture the wall of the pipe or fittings The sealing and packing material used in making connections or joints on all drainage soil waste vent and conductor pipes shall be composed of material that will not deteriorate and cannot be affected by contact with acids or alkalies The packing and sealing material used in joining the pipes shall be so placed that it cannot work out of the enlarged portion of the connections and all joints shall be so shaped that any end movement of the pipes in the joint would compress the sealing material

Any fitting or connection which has an enlargement chamber or recess with a ledge shoulder or reduction of the pipe area in the direction of the flow on the outlet or drain side of any trap is prohibited

Connections or hangers pipe supports or fixture settings with masonry or stone backing shall be made with expansion bolts without the use of wood plugs

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, I move to amend section 13, page 28, line 1, by striking out the word "joints" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "joint;" also line 12, by striking out "ture" and inserting in lieu thereof "tures;" also page 29, line 4, by striking out the word "treaded" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "threaded;" also line 22, by striking out "seaing" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "sealing."

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

The fourteenth section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 14 That section twenty-eight of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Traps for Bath-tubs Water-closets et Cetera

"Section 28 Every sink bath-tub basin water-closet slop hopper or fixture having a waste pipe must be furnished with a trap which shall be placed as close as practicable to the fixture that it serves and in no case shall they be more than one foot from said fixture The waste-pipe from the bath-tub or other fixtures must not be connected with a water-closet tray" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Traps for Bath-tubs Water-closets et cetera

"Section 28 Every sink bath-tub basin water-closet slop hopper or fixture having a waste-pipe must be furnished with a trap which shall be placed as close as practicable to the fixture that it serves and in no case shall they be more than one foot from said fixture and the horizontal waste from P-trap must not be longer than eighteen inches from vertical vent pipe unless P-trap is crown vented The waste-pipe from the bath-tub or other fixtures must not be connected with a water-closet trap"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, I move to amend section 14, page 30, line 21, by striikng out the word "tray" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "traps."

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

The fifteenth section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 15 That section twenty-nine of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which as amended by said act of May fourteenth nineteen hundred and nine reads as follows

Size of Horizontal and Vertical Wast-pipe Traps and Branches Section Twenty-nine

Horizontal and Vertical	Number of Small Fixtures
1¼ inches	1
1½ inches	2
2 inches	3 to 8
2½ inches	9 to 20
3 inches	21 to 44

If the building is ten (10) or more stories in height the vertical waste-pipe shall not be less than three (3) inches in diameter The use of wrought iron pipe for waste-pipe two inches or less in diameter is prohibited

The size of traps and waste branches for a given fixture shall be as follows

Kind of Fixtures	Size in Inches Trap	Branch
Water closet	3	4
Slop sink with trap combined	3	3
Slop sink ordinary	2	2
Pedestal urinal	3	3
Floor drain or wash	4	4
Yard drain or catch basin	4	4
Urinal trough	2	2
Laundry trays (2 or 5)	2	2
Combination sink and tray (for each fixture)	1½	2
Kitchen sinks (small) for dwellings	1½	1½
Kitchen sinks (large) hotels resturants grease trap	...	2
Pantry sinks	1½	1½
Wash basin one only	1¼	1¼
Bath-tubs 4 x 10 inches drum trap	...	1½
Shower baths	1½	1½
Shower baths (floor)	2	2
Sitz baths	1½	1½
Drinking fountains	1¼	1¼

Be and the same is hereby further amended to read as follows

Size of Horizontal and Vertical Waste-pipe Traps and Branches Section Twenty-nine

Horizontal and Vertical	Number of Small Fixtures
1¼ inches	1
1½ inches	2
2 inches	3 to 8
2½ inches	9 to 20
3 inches	21 to 44

If building is ten (10) or more stories in height the vertical waste pipe shall not be less than three (3) inches in diameter

Kind of Fixtures	Size in Inches Trap	Branch
Water closet	3	3
Slop sink with trap combined	3	3
Slop sink ordinary	2	2
Pedestal urinal	3	3
Floor drain or wash	4	4
Yard drain or catch basin	4	4
Urinal trough	2	2
Laundry trays (one set)	2	2
Combination sink and tray (for each fixture)	1½	2
Kitchen sinks (small) for dwellings	1½	1½
Kitchen sinks (large) hotels resturants grease trap	...	2
Pantry sinks	1½	1½
Wash basin one only	1¼	1¼
Bath-tubs 4 x 10 inches drum trap	1	1½
Shower baths	1½	1½
Shower baths (floor)	2	2
Sitz baths	1½	1½
Drinking fountains	1¼	1¼

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, I move to amend section 15, page 31, line 10, by striking out the words "Section twenty-nine" and inserting in lieu thereof "Section 29;" also line 15, by striking out, before the word "building" the word "the;" also in the first table on page 32, by striking out "resturants" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "restaurants;" also line 4, by striking out the words, "Section twenty-nine" and inserting in lieu thereof "Section 29;" also on page 33, by striking out in the table, "resturants" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "restaurants;" also in the table, page 33, by striking out in the line reading "Bathtubs 4 x 10 inches drum trap" in the first column under the word "trap" the figure "1."

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?
It was agreed to.

The sixteenth section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 16 That section thirty-three of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Safe and Refrigerator Waste-Pipes

"Section 33 Safe waste-pipes must not connect directly with any part of the plumbing system Safe waste-pipes must discharge over an open water supplied publicly placed ordinarily used sink placed not more than three and one-half feet above the cellar floor The safe waste from a refrigerator must be trapped at the bottom of the line only and must not discharge upon the ground floor but over an ordinary portable pan or some properly trapped water supply sink as above In no case shall the refrigerator waste-pipe discharge over a sink located in a room used for living purposes

The branches on vertical lines must be made by "Y" fittings and be carried to the safe with as much pitch as possible Where there is an offset on a refrigerator waste-pipe in cellar there must be cleanout to control the horizontal part of the pipe

In tenement and lodging houses the refrigerator waste-pipes must extend above the roof and not be larger than one and one-half inches nor the branches less than one and one-quarter inches Refrigerator waste-pipes except in tenement houses and all safe waste-pipes must have brass flap-valves at their lower ends Lead safes must be graded and neatly turned over beveled strips at their edges" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 33 A waste-pipe from refrigerators ice-boxes drinking fountains soda water fountains or bar wastes shall not be connected directly with any soil rain waste-pipe or drain sewer or discharge on the open ground They shall discharge into a movable pan or any open sink water supplied or over a floor drain in basement and shall be as short as possible and disconnected from the refrigerator or ice box by at least four (4) inches and where drinking fountains refrigerators or ice boxes are placed in buildings on two (2) or more floors the waste and vent pipes thereof shall continuous and shall run through the roof and in no case shall it be open within six (6) feet of an open soil or waste pipe The size of waste-pipes for refrigerators or drinking fountains for two floors or less shall be at least one and one-half inches and two inches for three floors and over Each refrigerator drinking fountain or ice box shall be provided with a separate trap traps for refrigerators or ice boxes shall be known as a drum trap with an accessible trap screw or cleanout Such traps shall be placed in the one and one-fourth waste-pipe branch and shall be as near as possible to the refrigerator or ice box Such traps need not be separately vented Galvanized wrought iron screw pipe may be used for such waste pipes

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, I move to amend section 16, page 33, line 15, by striking out the word "supply" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "supplied;" also page 34, line 6, by striking out the word "cleanout" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "cleanouts;" also line 28, by inserting before the word "continuous" the word "be;" also page 35, line 1, by striking out the word "open;" also line 10, by inserting before the word "waste-pipe" the following: "(1¼ inch)."

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?
It was agreed to.

The seventeenth section of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

Section 17 That section thirty-four of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Material for Vent-Pipes

"Section 34 All vent-pipes must either be of lead brass loricated porcelain enameled iron or galvanized iron pipe" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Material for Vent-Pipes

Section 34 All vent pipes must either be of lead brass extra heavy cast iron or galvanized iron pipe

The eighteenth section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 18 That section thirty-five of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which as amended by said act of May fourteenth nineteen hundred and nine reads as follows

Ventilation of Traps and Soil Lines

"Section 35 Traps shall be protected from siphonage or air pressure by special vent-pipes of a size not less than the following tables

Size of Pipe	Maximum Developed Length in Feet Mains	Number of Traps Vented Branch	Main Verical
1¼ inch vent	20	1
1½ inch vent	40	2 or less..
2 inch vent	65	10 or less..	20 or less
2½ inch vent	100	20 or less..	40 or less
3 inch vent	10 or more stories	60 or less..	100 or less

The branch vent-pipes shall be not less than the following sizes

One and one-fourth inches in diameter for one and one-fourth inch traps

One and one-half inches in diameter for one and one-half to two and one-half inch traps

Two inches in diameter for three inch to four inch traps

One-half their diameter for traps five inches and over

Where two (2) or more waster-closets are placed side by side on a horizontal branch the branch line shall have a relief extended as a loop vent A pipe two (2) inches in diameter will be sufficient as a loop vent for two (2) closets A pipe three (3) inches in diameter shall be used as a relief for three (3) or four (4) closets and where more than four (4) closets are located on the same branch the relief shall not be less than four (4) inches in diameter All house drains and soil lines on which water-closet is located must have a four-inch main vent line Where an additional closet is located in the cellar or basement and within ten feet of main soil or vent line no relief vent will be required for said closet but where it is more than ten feet a two-inch vent line will be required Relief vent pipes for water-closets must not be less than two inches in diameter for a length of forty feet and not less than three inches in diameter for more than forty feet

No revent from traps under bell-traps will be required

Any building having a sewer connection with a public or private sewer used for bell-trap connection or floor drainage only a two-inch relief line must be extended to the roof of building from rear end of main drain House drains constructed for roof drainage only will not require a relief vent

A floor-trap for a shower shall be vented unless located in cellar or ground floor the paving of which renders the trap inaccessible If the number of these fixtures on a branch is two (2) or more the waste line shall be extended as a loop vent instead of back venting the separate traps and when located in basement floor they shall be provided with a removable strainer or cleanout

Back vent pipes from traps above the floor must either be connected with crown of trap with ground-in brass coupling or if connected solidly to trap must have a ground-in brass coupling at wall" be and the same is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 35 Traps shall be protected from siphonage or air pressure by special vent-pipes of a size not less than the following tables and where it is a greater distance than that given in table it shall be one size larger its entire length

Size of Pipe	Maximum Developed Length in Feet Mains	Number of Traps Vented Branch	Main Verical
1¼ inch vent	20	1
1½ inch vent	40	2 or less..
2 inch vent	65	10 or less..	20 or less
2½ inch vent	100	20 or less..	40 or less
3 inch vent	10 or more stories	60 or less..	100 or less

The branch vent-pipes shall not be less than the following sizes

One and one-fourth inches in diameter for one and one-fourth inch traps

One and one-half inches in diameter for one or (2) one and one-half traps or one two (2) inch trap

Two inches in diameter for three inch to four inch traps

One-half their diameter for traps five inches and over

Where two (2) or more water-closets are placed side by side on a horizontal branch the branch line shall have a relief as a loop vent A pipe two (2) inches in diameter will be sufficient as a loop vent for two (2) closets A pipe three inches in diameter shall be used as a relief for three (3) or four (4) closets and where more than four (4) closets are located on the same branch the relief shall, not be less than four (4) inches in diameter All house drains and soil lines on which a water-closet is located must have a main vent line not less than three (3) inches in diameter Where an additional closets is located in the cellar or basement and within ten feet of main soil or vent line no relief vent will be required for said closet but where it is more than ten feet a two-inch vent line will be required Relief vent pipes for water-closets must not be less than two inches in diameter for a length of sixty-five feet and not less than three inches in diameter for more than sixty-five feet In any house that has a three-inch vent through the roof a closet set on the first floor may be vented with a two-inch pipe

No revent from traps under bell-trap will be required

Any building having a sewer connection with a public or private sewer used for bell-trap connections or floor drainage only a two-inch relief line must be extended to the roof of building from rear end of main drain House drains constructed for roof drainage only will not require a relief vent All bell-traps floor drains or yard cesspools shall be connected to the sewer by means of a joint or connection that is as secure as the joints on the main drainage system Slip joints putty joints or open joints will not be permitted on any part of the drainage system

In the event that a building if higher than an adjoining one the owner of the higher building shall not locate windows within twelve (12) feet of any existing vent stack on the lower building unless the owner of such building shall defray the expense of or shall himself make such alteration necessary to extend the vent pipe above all windows on the higher building

It shall be the duty of the owner of the lower or existing building to make such alteration therein upon the receipt in advance of money or security therefor sufficient for the purpose from the owner of the higher building or he shall permit at the election of the owner of the higher building the right to make such alteration by the owner of said higher building

If the number of those fixtures on a branch is two (2) or more the waste line shall be extended as a loop vent instead of back venting the separate traps and when located in basement floor they shall be provided with a removable strainer or cleanout

Back vent pipes from traps above the floor must either be connected with crown of trap with ground-in brass coupling or if connected solidly to trap must have a ground-in brass coupling at wall

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BURKE. Mr. President, I move to amend section 18, page 36, line 10, by inserting before the word "to" the word "inch;" also page 38, line 5, by inserting before the word "table" the word "the;" also line 11, by striking out "(2)" and inserting in lieu thereof of the word "two"; also page 39, line 5, by striking out the word "colsets" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "closet."

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-first sections of the bill were read as follows and agreed to.

Section 19 That section thirty-eight of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Connection for Closet Vents

"Section 38 Rubber connections for back vents will not be permitted without double coupling and thimble inside" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Connection for Closet Vents

Section 38 All wrought iron or mild steel pipe used for soil waste or vent pipes shall be galvanized and not lighter than the commercial grade known as "Full weight" The fittings for wrought iron or mild steel waste soil and refrigerator waste shall be cast or malleable iron or brass recessed drainage fittings with smooth interior waterway and threads tapped out of solid metal so as to give a uniform grade to branches of not less than one-fourth of an inch per foot Threaded fittings for soil waste and vent pipes shall be brass galivanized malleable iron or cast iron All lead pipe used for branch soil waste vent or flush pipes shall be of best quality of drawn pipe of not less weight per lineal foot than shown in the following table

Internal Diameter	Weight per Ft.
1 inch	1 lb. 8 oz.
1¼ inch	2 lb. 8 oz.
1½ inch	3 lb. 8 oz.
2 inch	4 lb. 0 oz.
3 inch	6 lb. 0 oz.
4 inch	8 lb. 0 oz.

Brass pipe for soil waste and vent pipe shall be thoroughly annealed seamless drawn tubing having weight and outside diameter of not less than the following table and shall be of a heft known as iron pipe size pipe

Size	Approximate weight foot brass	Per outside diameter inches	Inside diameter inches
⅛	.25	.405	.281
¼	.43	.540	.375
⅜	.62	.675	.494
½	.90	.840	.625

5	15.40	5.563	5.062
6	18.44	6.625	6.125

Brass fittings shall be good quality cast brass having a thickness in their walls not less than the tubular thickness given above for the corresponding brass pipe The thickness of the tapped ends to be one and one-half (1½) times the thickness of the corresponding pipe

Kind of Traps Every trap shall be self-cleaning No form which depends upon the action of movable parts for its seal shall be used No trap which depends upon concealed interior partitions for its seal or which has an interior partition that in case of defect would allow the passage of sewer air shall be used

Traps for bath tubs basins sinks or other similar fixtures shall be made of lead brass galvanized iron or of iron porcelain enameled inside Galvanized or porcelain enameled iron traps shall be extra heavy full bore and have a smooth interior waterway and threads tapped out of solid metal

Iron drum traps shall be made of extra heavy cast or malleable iron galivanized or porcelain enameled on the inside and the drum shall not exceed four (4) inches in diameter

Drum traps shall have a water seal of not more than seven (7) inches nor less than two and one-half (2½) inches

Weter seal Each trap placed on any portion of the drainage system shall have a water seal of not less than two and one-half (2½) inches

Each trap except those in combination with fixtures where the trap seal is plainly visible and accessible shall be provided with a brass trap screw Traps placed between the floor shall have a brass trap screw for cleaning in plain view or flush with the floor or readily accessible from or under the floor

Trap levels and protection All traps shall be rigidly supported and set true with respect to their water level and shall be so located as to protect their seals

Traps prohibited on drains There shall be no trap at the foot of soil or waste pipe stacks

Section 20 That section forty-five of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Water-Closet Connections with Soil-Pipe

"Section 45 All earthenware traps must have heavy brass floor plates soldered to the lead bends and bolted to the trap flange and the joint made permanently secure and gas-tight" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Water-Closet Connection with Soil-Pipe

Section 45 Water-closets slop sinks clinic slop sinks pedestal urinals and all fixtures having integral traps shall be attached to the drainage system by means of a screw joint fitting or metal to metal joint or by means of a metal to metal or water sealed joint that is attached to the bowl trap in a permanent manner and so designed that any leakage between the bowl and the fixture will register upon the floor over which the bowl is placed this floor or wall connection shall be water sealed in such a manner that the seal will be replenished at each operation of the fixture

Section 21 That section forty-six of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Water-Closets where Located

"Section 46 Water-closets must not be located in sleeping apartments nor in any room or compartment which has not direct communication with external air either by window or airshaft of at least four square feet" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Water-Closets where Located

Section 46 Water-closet apartments must not have direct communication with any dining room or kitchen nor shall any water-closet be placed in any dining room or kitchen Water-closet apartments must not be placed in a dining room kitchen or sleeping apartments nor have direct communication with a public dining room restaurant or kitchen nor be placed in any room or compartment which has not direct communication with external air either by window or air shaft of at least four square feet And when any window ventilating any water-closet compartment or bath-room opens directly into a vent shaft no window of any room other than water-closets bath-room or hall shall open into such vent shaft

The twenty-second section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 22 That section forty-seven of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Water-closets how Supplied

"Section 47 No water-closets except those placed in yards and flush meters volumeter or similar devices shall be supplied directly from the supply pipes" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Water-closets how Supplied

Section 47 All valves of flushing tanks shall be so fitted and adjusted as to prevent the waste of water

The water from flushing tanks shall be used for no other purposes nor will any stop be permitted in flush pipe

All water flushed plumbing fixtures shall be provided with pipes of ample size to furnish a sufficient quantity of water to thoroughly cleanse the bowl at each operation When filing plans the plumber shall furnish the plumbing inspector with a sketch or plan showing the size of the water pipe from the main to each water flushed plumbing fixture He shall furnish the plumbing inspector with all information regarding the size of the water main pressure in the water main or other source of supply The manner of tapping the water main and conducting the water into the building the height of the building the distance the fixtures are located above the water main the distance of the building from the source of supply together with any other information necessary to determine the size of pipe necessary to properly flush each fixture

He shall also furnish the plumbing inspector with a description of each and every fixture together with the information regarding the quantity of water necessary for each operation of such fixture and a description of a device by which the fixtures are being flushed From this information the chief plumbing inspector shall advise the size pipe to be used for supplying water to all fixtures in the building

It shall be the duty of the plumbing inspector to be positive that all plumbing fixtures are supplied with a sufficient quantity and volume of water to thoroughly cleanse the system and each fixture seperately and if for any reason the plumber does not follow the advise of the plumbing inspector in regard to the size of the water pipe the plumber shall before a final certificate is issued change or alter the water piping system in such a manner that all fixtures can be effectually and satisfactorily flushed

Any and all water flushed plumbing fixtures that receive putrescible waste matter shall be so constructed and assembled that it will be impossible for any portion of the contents of the bowl to syphon or flow into the water supply pipes The plumbing inspector shall demand a sample of all water flushed fixtures installed under his jurisdiction including the bowl and flushing device and he shall make a vacuum test on the water supply of the assembled fixtures and be positive the contents of the bowl cannot syphon and be drawn into the water supply pipes

An Act for the imposition and collection of certain inheritance taxes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all estates real personal and mixed of every kind whatsoever situated within this Commonwealth whether the person dying seized thereof be domiciled within or without this Commonwealth and all such estates situated in another State, territory or country when the person dying seized thereof shall have his domicile within this Commonwealth passing from any person who may die seized or possessed of such estates either by will or under the intestate laws of this Commonwealth or any part of such estates or interests therein transferred by deed grant bargain or sale made or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment after the death of the grantor or bargainer to or for the use of father mother husband wife children lineal descendants born in lawful wedlock children of a former husband or wife or the wife or widow of the son of a person dying seized or possessed or to legally adopted children are hereby made subject to a tax of two ($2) dollars on every hundred dollars of the clear value of such estates and at the same rate for any less amount to be paid to the use of the Commonwealth

The tax hereinbefore provided is also imposed on any estate passing from the mother of an illegitimate child or from any person of whom the mother is a lineal descendant to such illegitimate child his wife or widow Such tax also applies to any estate passing from an illegitimate child to his mother

Section 2 The register of wills of the county in which letters testamentary or of administration are granted shall appoint an appraiser whenever occasion may require to fix the value of the estates hereinbefore subjected to tax Such appraiser shall make a fair conscionable appraisement of such estates and assess and fix the cash value of all annuities and life estates growing out of said estates upon which annuities and life estates the tax imposed by this act shall be immediately payable out of the estate at the rate of such valuation

Section 3 The compensation of such appraisers shall be as follows namely For each day during which an appraiser shall actually be engaged in making appraisements of property subject to the tax he shall receive the sum of five dollars If it shall be necessary for the appraiser to travel from his place or residence to appraise property subject to the tax he shall be allowed such actual necessary traveling expenses as he may incur which expenses shall be itemized in a sworn statement to be returned to the register and subject to the final approval of the auditor general

Section 4 Whenever because of the complicated nature of an estate subject to the payment of such tax the interest of the Commonwealth shall require the appointment as appraiser of such estate of a person possessed of expert or technical knowledge to ascertain the value thereof reasonable additional compensation shall be allowed such appraiser for the exercise of such expert or technical knowledge In case where after the appointment of an appraiser it shall appear that the proper appraisement of said estate will require the services of a person possessed of expert or technical knowledge whereof the appraiser appointed is not possessed the appraiser may employ the services of a person possessed of expert or technical knowledge to assist him in the appraisement and for such services the person so employed shall receive reasonable compensation In all such cases the register of will appointing the appraiser shall certify to the auditor general that there is an actual necessity for the appointment of an appraiser possessed of expert or technical knowledge or that the appraiser already appointed to appraise the estate in question should be assisted by a person possessed of such knowledge No person shall be appointed as such expert appraiser or as expert assistant to the appraiser until the approval of the auditor general of said appointment is first obtained nor shall any payment be made to any appraiser or to any person employed by him under this section until an itemized statement of the services performed and the compensation recommended shall have been rendered under oath or affirmation to the auditor general for his approval and shall have received the same No clerk or other person employed in the office of a register of wills shall be appointed as an expert appraiser of an estate subject to the payment of such tax nor as an expert to assist the appraiser of such estate

Section 5 It shall be a misdemeanor for an appraiser to take any fee or reward from any executor or administrator legatee lineal descendent or heir of any decedent and for any such offense the register shall dismiss him from such service Upon conviction of such misdemeanor such appraiser shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars or imprisoned not exceeding one year or both

Section 6 Any person not satisfied with any appraisement may appeal within thirty days to the orphans' court on paying or giving security to pay all costs together with whatever tax shall be fixed by the court Upon such appeal the court may determine all questions of valuation and of the liability of the appraised estate for such tax subject to the right of appeal to the supreme or superior court

Section 7 The register of wills shall enter in a book to be provided at the expense of the Commonwealth which shall be a public record the returns made by all appraisers under the provisions of this act opening an account in favor of the Commonwealth against each decedent's estate The register may give certificates of payment of such tax from such record The register shall transmit to the auditor general on the first day of each month a statement of all returns made by appraisers during the preceding month upon which the taxes have been paid or remain unpaid which statement shall be entered by the auditor general in a book to be kept for that purpose Whenever any such tax shall have remained due and unpaid for one year the register may apply to the orphans' court by bill or petition to enforce the payment of the same whereupon the court having caused notice to be given to the owner of the real estate charged with the tax and to such other person as may be interested shall proceed according to equity to make such decrees or orders for the payment of the tax out of such real estate as shall be just and proper

Section 8 If the register shall discover that any tax imposed by this act has not been paid the orphans' court may cite the executors or administrators of the decedent whose estate is subject to the tax to file an account or to appear on a certain day and show cause why the tax should not be paid When personal service cannot be had notice shall be given for four weeks once a week in at least one newspaper published in the county If the tax shall be found to be due the delinquent shall pay the tax and costs The register or the auditor general shall employ an attorney of the county to sue for the recovery of the amount of such tax The auditor general in the settlement of accounts of any register may allow him costs of advertising and other reasonable fees and expenses incurred in the collection of the tax

Section 9 Where there is a devise descent or bequest liable to the tax hereinbefore imposed which devise descent or bequest is to take effect in possession or to come into actual enjoyment after the expiration of one or more life estates or a period of years the tax on such estate shall not be payable nor shall interest begin to run thereon until the person liable for the same shall come into actual possession of such estate by the termination of the estates for life or years The tax shall be assessed upon the value of the estate at the time the right of possession accrues to the owner but the owner may pay the tax at any time prior to his coming into possession In such cases the tax shall be assessed on the value of the estate at the time of the payment of the tax after deducting the value of the life estate or estates for years The tax on real estate shall remain a lien on the real estate on which the same is chargeable until paid The owner of any personal estate shall make a full return of the same to the register of wills within one year from the death of the decedent and within that time enter into security for the payment of the tax to the satisfaction of such register In case of failure so to do the tax shall be immediately payable

Section 10 If the tax is paid within three months after the death of the decedent a discount of five per centum shall be allowed If the tax is not paid at the end of one year from the death of the decedent interest shall be charged at the rate of twelve per centum per annum on such tax Where because of claims made upon the estate litigation or other unavoidable cause of delay the estate of any decedent or any part thereof cannot be settled up at the end of the year interest at the rate of six per centum shall be charged upon the tax arising from the unsettled part thereof from the end of such year until there be default Where real or personal estate withheld by reason of litigation or other cause of delay in manner aforesaid from the parties entitled thereto subject to such tax has not been productive to the extent of six per centum per annum the proper parties shall not pay a greater amount as interest to the Commonwealth than they have realized or shall realize from such estate during the time the same has been or shall be withheld as aforesaid

Section 11 The executor or administrator or other trustee paying any legacy or share in the distribution of any estate subject to the said tax shall deduct therefrom at the rate of two dollars in every hundred dollars upon the whole legacy or sum paid or if not money he shall demand payment of a sum to be computed at the same rate upon the appraised value thereof No executor or administrator shall be compelled to pay or deliver any specific legacy or article to be distributed subject to tax except on the payment into his hands of a sum computed on its value as aforesaid In case of neglect or refusal on the part of such legatee to pay the same such specific legacy or article or so much thereof as shall be necessary shall be sold by such executor or administrator at public sale after notice to such legatee and the balance that may be left in the hands of the executor or administrator shall be distributed as is or may be directed by law Every sum of money retained by any executor or administrator or paid into his hands on account of any legacy or distributive share for the use of the Commonwealth shall be paid by him without delay

Section 12 When a legacy subject to tax under this act is given to any person for life or for a term of years or for any other limited period upon a condition of contingency of the same be money the tax thereon shall be retained upon the whole amount but if not money application shall be made to the orphans court to make apportionment if the case require it of the sum to be paid by such legatees and for such further order relative thereto as equity shall require

Whenever any such legacy shall be charged upon or payable out of real estate the heir or devisee before paying the same shall deduct therefrom at the rate aforesaid and pay the amount so deducted to the executor and the same shall remain a charge upon such real estate until paid and the payment thereof shall be enforced by the decree of the orphans' court in the same manner as the payment of such legacy may be enforced

Section 13 Whenever any real estate of which any decedent may die seized shall be subject to the tax the executors and administrators shall give information thereof to the register of the county where administration has been granted within six months after they undertake the execution of their respective duties or if the fact be no known to them within that period then within one month after the same shall have come to their knowledge The owners of such estate immediately upon its vesting shall give information thereof to the register having jurisdiction of the granting of administration

Section 14 Any executor or administrator on the payment of said tax shall take duplicate receipts from the register both of which shall be forwarded forthwith to the auditor general who shall charge the register receiving the money with the amount and seal with the seal of his office and countersign the original receipt and transmit it to the executor or administrator whereupon it shall be a proper voucher in the settlement of the estate In no event shall an executor or administrator be entitled to a credit in his account by the register unless the receipt is so sealed and countersigned by the auditor general

Section 15 Whenever any foreign executor or administrator or trustee shall assign or transfer any stocks or loans in this Commonwealth standing in the name of the decedent or in trust for the decedent which shall be liable for the tax imposed by this act such tax shall be paid on the transfer thereof to the register of the county where such transfer is made otherwise the corporation permitting such transfer shall become liable to pay such tax

Section 16 Whenever debts shall be proved against the estate of a decedent after distribution of legacies from which the tax has been deducted in compliance with this act and the legatee is required to refund any portion of a legacy a portion of the said tax shall be repaid to him by the executor or administrator if the tax has not been paid into the state or county treasury or by the county treasurer if it has been so paid

The House met at 9 o'clock, P. M.

The SPEAKER (Richard J. Baldwin) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Rev. Ellis N. Kremer, of Harrisburg, Pa., offered the following prayer.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we invoke Thy blessing upon this body of Thy servants called to public duty in the interest of our beloved State. Strengthen them, we beseech Thee, in wisdom and righteousness and truth. Graciously protect them in health and strength and grant that Thy providential care and the blessings of Thy grace may rest upon those in their homes from whom they are temporarily separated.

We pray for Thy blessing upon the Governor of this Commonwealth and all others in authority over us and for our State. Make us strong and great in the fear of God and in the love of righteousness and responsive, as we have ever been, to the call of the nation in times of perplexity and danger. And, Oh Father, we beseech Thee that Thou will graciously bless our nation now. Grant unto those in authority over us wisdom and strength for the performance of their public duties. Bless our army and navy and grant that the war may be brought to an early and a successful close, and that the institutions of our land may be neither lost to us by the conquest of a foe or by negligence or weakness from within.

Hear us, we beseech Thee and graciously pardon our sins.

We ask it through infinite riches of grace in Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Lord, to whom, with Thee and the Holy Spirit be honor and praise now and forever, Amen.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON RULES.

Mr. RAMSEY offered the following report from the Committee on Rules which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Harrisburg, Pa., May 14th, 1917.

Gentlemen: Your Committee in pursuance to the statement made in the report of May 8th, 1917, further report that we find there are in Committees at this date, a total of about eighteen hundred and fifty bills. Some of these are duplicate bills in the different bodies, leaving probably about fifteen hundred bills still in Committee.

After a careful inquiry from the different Chairmen, (aside from the Appropriation Bills) there are probably three or four hundred bills of sufficient importance to be reported for consideration.

Your Committee does not want to be understood as assuring the Legislature that the 14th of June would be a proper date for adjournment. It does, however, conclude upon the information obtained, that the House could wisely fix this date at this time; subject to the approval of the Senate. This suggestion is based upon the presumption that the membership from this time forward give full attendance at all sessions, so as to avoid re-consideration, which so frequently retards action upon other Legislative matters.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

We, therefore, present the following Resolution for consideration of the House at this time:

"Resolved, That if the Senate concur, that the General Assembly adjourn sine die at high noon June fourteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen (1917).

(Signed) WM. T. RAMSEY,
JAMES J. HEFFERNAN,
SAMUEL H. WHITAKER,
W. McCAIG,
JOHN FLYNN.

Mr. STITES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the thanks of this House be extended to the Committee on Rules for their very painstaking and efficient efforts in connection with this matter.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. McKAY asked and obtained leave of absence for his colleague Mr. Aston.

Mr. KENNEDY asked and obtained leave of absence for his colleague Mr. Gormley.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Chair in the passing of the resolution presented by the Rules Committee is it the declaration of the Chair that this House has adopted the resolution.

The SPEAKER. That was the impression of the Chair.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the House concurred in the Senate Amendments to House Bill No. 1117, File Folio 5305, entitled,

An Act providing that appointive officers and employes employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or by any county municipality or school district thereof in its civil service who have a wife children or parents dependent upon them for support shall not be deemed or held to have resigned or abandoned their offices or employments by reason of enlistment in the army or navy of the United States in time of war or contemplated war prohibiting the removal from their offices or employments of such officers and employes during the period of their service in the army or navy directing that one-half of the salaries or wages of such officers or employes not exceeding two thousand dollars per annum be paid during the term of their service in the army or navy to such dependents thereof authorizing the employment during said term of substitutes to perform the duties theretofore performed by such officers or emyloyes respectively and providing for the compensation of such substitutes.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House nonconcur in the amendments made by the Senate to the above bill.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the amendments nonconcurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION CONGRATULATING HON. ROBERT S. SPANGLER.

Mr. COX offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Whereas, The Honorable Robert S. Spangler, member of this House from York County has enlisted in the United States Army and is now in training at the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Niagara, Therefore Be it Resolved, That the House commend and congratulate Mr. Spangler for this timely display of patriotism and wish him all possible success in his military career.

Mr. REITZEL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to have indefinite leave of absence granted to Mr. Spangler from York.

The SPEAKER. Leave of absence is granted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I notice that in the Legislative Journal of Wednesday, May 8th, I was recorded as voting "Aye" on House Bills No. 1577 and 1578. I desire to be recorded as voting "No."

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection. The change will be made as requested and noted in the Legislative Journal of the House.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 886.

Mr. JEFFERSON W. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 886, File Folio 4277, entitled,

An Act to promote the public health and safety by providing for the examination and licensure of those who desire to engage in the occupation of barbering providing for the appointment by the governor of an examining board defining the powers and duties of said board regulating barber shops barber schools and barber colleges and apprentices and students therein and providing penalties.

was defeated on final passage on May 8th be reconsidered.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion

The SPEAKER. The noes appear to have it.

Whereupon, A division was called for, 102 gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and 14 in the negative.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

Mr. BLACK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 853, File Folio 2505, entitled,

An Act requiring the Commonwealth, and all counties thereof and all public institutions owned, managed and controlled by the Commonwealth or any county thereof, to purchase supplies and certain materials from State correctional institutions; providing for the administration of this act by the Prison Labor Commission and others; and making it unlawful under certain circumstances for the Auditor General of the Commonwealth or any County Controller or the Treasurer of any Public Institution to approve any bill for such materials or supplies purchased elsewhere.

was defeated on final passage on Tuesday, May 8, be reconsidered.

Mr. FRANK I. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was under consideration by the House last week, I opposed its passage at that time and I gave my reasons which I still persist in and believe are sufficient when properly laid before the House to again result in the defeat of the reconsideration of this bill. This bill provides that every county institution, that every State owned institution, that every charitable institution receiving State-aid must purchase certain supplies from the State Prison Labor Association. I contend, sir, that that is wrong in principle and that it establishes unheard-of practice in legislation in Pennsylvania. I would say, further, that if we would turn our prisons into workshops then the products of these prison workshops should be sold in the open market and not be forced upon our institutions against their will. Under the provisions of this bill a county commissioner could not sign an order for supplies unless they were purchased from this Prison Board. I wish to state further, Mr. Speaker, in this connection that a companion bill which has been introduced into this House provides innumerable jobs.

Some of them carry a salary as high as $7,500 a year. I say that this is one of the most outrageous bills that has been offered in this session of the Legislature, and this motion to re-consider should be voted down.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I rise at this time in defense of this bill. In as much as last week I understand there seemed to be a misunderstanding as to the position that some of us take on a measure of this kind. I have, I think, looked over the bill carefully. I appeared before the Committee that had this bill under consideration; I have heard the friends of the bill discuss it, and I myself spoke on the bill, and I have mingled with people before this bill was ever drafted and discussed this subject with them, and I came to the conclusion that it was a rather favorable measure. The old idea that prisons or penal institutions should be torture chambers I think should give way to a more advanced idea. I contend that seventy-five per cent of the people in a penal institution are not criminals, they are simply unfortunates. I believe that you will all agree with me that none of us here know all the law, and we who are here in touch with at all times should not expect others who are not in as close touch with it as we are, to be in as close touch with the law. It is an easy thing to become a violator of the law. We know from past expereince that it does society no good to place people in solitary confinement, and I do not think it is society's function to wreak vengeance upon those citizens who break the law. I believe it is our duty to try to turn them out o foru penal institutions better ciizens than they were when we got them. Now I cannot understand how solitary confinement or idleness of any kind is going to improve the morals o fanyone. I do object, of course, to placing prison labor in competition with free labor. I object to that because it is not fair to free labor. I think that would be wrong, it would be penalizing those who obey the law and placing a premium on the law breaker. During panic periods when work is very scarce it would be almost a temptation to break into jail to get a job if that were true; but after all we have this condition to meet, what are we going to do with the people in the penal institutions? After all no serious wrong will be done. We do not care to place prison labor in competition with free labor, yet what are they to do with a prisoner? I have asked prisoners many times what they would prefer, whether they would like to be idle or whether they would care to work, and invariable the answer has come, "Give me something to do." They don't want idleness. Now this bill before us provides that prison made goods shall be sold to the public institutions, to the State, to the counties, to the municipalities, the institutions owned by the people. I cannot see anything wrong in that. What is wrong about it? Mr. Flynn, the gentleman from Elk, says it will compel these officials to buy these goods. Well, what about it if it does, what is wrong about that?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Berks.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Maurer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker, I will when I am through.

What is wrong about it? The bill further provides that "only providing however," we can furnish the goods that they ask for, that they need, and that the goods shall sell at the prevailing market price, it will not give the owners, or the managers of those penal institutions a license to charge exorbitant prices to the various municipal institutions, they can only charge the prevailing price, not including job lots of course, and that is fair. As it is today, how does it go? We know from experience that the brooms that are made in our penal institutions are marked "prison made" goods as the law requires. Then they are sold to a party outside of the state and at whatever price they can arrange for. I do not know the price, but I am tempted to believe the prices are below what we are paying for brooms, and then they are stamped, or a label is put over the "prison made" stamp, and they are sent back to us of the state as coming from another state and we pay the fancy prices. I also know that buying goods under these conditions is desirable to many of these commissioners. I presume they have favorites from whom they would like to buy supplies. They spent $100,000 to $200,000 a year for supplies, and it is worth one's while to have command of such a market. Therefore, it is quite a big thing to be able to buy where you see fit. This will compel them to buy of our own institutions, and why shouldn't they? It will not come directly into competition with free labor. I look forward to the time when we will have great farms in this state where we can raise the food to feed our inmates of hospitals and of the insane asylums and of such places, and instead of their coming to us for big appropriations, as we are now called upon to give, we will give them food instead at little or no cost to us. The best part of it, aside from the economic point of view, is that we are going to turn out better men and better women, and not the kind we usually turn out from penal institutions now. I want to tell you gentlemen, that most of our institutions belong to another age as I see it. Young men go into those penal institutions and come out with prison records, and are followed and dogged, no matter how honest they try to be, they don't have a chance to be honest. They are spotted, and spied upon when they get a job. I know it because I myself got a number of them out, and when after the poor fellows lost one job after the other they ceased to try. I believe the time has come when we must do something to make the inmates of these institutions good citizens. I know a number of men whose first offense and second offense was of a trifling nature, but they came out with a prison record, and after that those men had no chance in the struggle for an existence. I have seen them in jails sitting in there idling away their time, they are losing their health, and becoming inefficients of the worst order, and instead of that I feel that we should make them practical men, and train them to make their own lives so that they will not have to resort to thievery and other tricks. That is my position. It is wrong to sell our products to private institutions who sell them back to us at advanced prices. Naturally they do not buy them for what they sell them for. If they did that the people who buy them would not buy them if they had to sell them back at the same price. I want to repeat, and I want to make it plain, that I am opposed to prison labor going into competition with free labor in the open market, but I am not opposed to prison labor goods being sold to municipalities or government owned institutions. Theer is a big difference and I want that stated just that way.

Just last week here in Harrisburg the organization of which I have the honor to be president, had a convention here. There were several hundred delegates present from all over the state. That convention passed a resolution favorable to the state ownership of farms where we could do extensive farming and sell the product raised by those prisoners to our state institutions. That was just passed here last week. Some people think that organized labor is selfish and reactionary, but it is not, it is progressive, more so than those people who think least of us, and therefore I am speaking at this time to voice the sentiment of organized labor. I am now ready to answer the question of the gentleman from Elk.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I no longer care to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, but I would like to answer him in a measure.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Elk does not care to press his interrogation. The Speaker recognizes the gentleman from Elk.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I do not yield even to the member from Berks county in my concern for these unfortunate prisoners. I have no objection to the principle of prison labor. What I do object to particularly is that certain classes of our institutions shall be forced to buy the products of that labor. I represent no organization; I represent no interest except the interest of the people of my district and of the State at large in this matter. It is well known, sir, that there has been inaugurated in this State a system of prison labor whereby these unfortunate prisoners can be given work upon the farms. A large prison is now being built in Centre county and many of our prisoners are being taken care of there in a way not to be brought into competition with the element which the gentleman from Berks county so ably represents. I well understand his position in this matter. He refuses to give the very goods which he would have these prisoners manufacture a real market, an open market, to sell to any one who would care to buy them, because that of course would bring it into competition with union labor, but he is generous enough to give to our county and to our institutions a provision that would compel them to purchase these very goods. That certainly is broad justice. Now then I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that together with a companion bill this bill presents to the membership of this House a proposition which would mean thousands and thousands of dollars in salaries; it would mean additional hundreds of thousands of dollars in the way of manufacturing expense, and I say that that is a wrong principle to use. Let us put these prisoners to work on the farms and on the roads, if you please, and not in the manufacturing business, with an idea of forcing a certain class of institutions to purchase their product. That is what I object to.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I still fail to see why objection should be raised against this bill. Now there are two parties involved in this matter. First we have the welfare of the prisoner, and we have the welfare of the public. Now if we are going to have prison labor, and it has been generally agreed during the last twenty or twenty-five years by all authorities that it is better,—that it is better for the welfare of the prisoner that he should be employed—I say, if we are going to have prison labor, we must have some market for it. We can not put our prisoners to work if we are not allowed to put the goods upon the market. We know that has been the position generally of labor, and there is a great deal of sentiment on account of bringing prison labor into the open market. If we are to work our prisoners what are we going to do with their products, if we dare not use them ourselves for our public institutions? These prisoners are in a sense public wards, in other words, they are taken care of by the public. We appropriate money to take care of them, to correct them, and restrain them, so then while we have them in our charge why shall they not work and why shall we not have the advantage of their work? This bill, as I take it, in my county, would simply tell the county commissioners that as long as the public, the counties, have products of their own, they shall not buy them anywhere else. Is it not reasonable that the goods that can be made in these penal or any other institutions should be used by the public itself before they are thrown out into the open market? Now I have listened to the arguments pro and con and I have not yet seen one argument why this bill should not be passed. The only argument is that it creates jobs and salaries,—that is, a companion bill to it does this. We never had any administration or can have any administration without jobs, and we cannot have the administration of any act or law without having jobs or salaries connected with it. I cannot see why, if we want the prisoners to work that we should not use these products ourselves. It is simply, as I see it, taking money out of one pocket and putting it into the other pocket. It is simply consuming our own products, and not buying anywhere else, and it simply says we shall take these products and use them when we need them. No farmer would buy a lot of grain or cattle if he had enough for himself, and why therefore should we take these products and put them in the open market and then go out into the open market and buy them back, probably at a higher price. I cannot, as I have said, see one single valid objection to this.

Mr. DELL. Mr. Speaker, I want to call your attention to just one feature of this bill that I think will convince you that this bill should not pass this House. Pennsylvania has grown to be an empire of eight millions of people because we have prospered and encouraged our manufacturing institutions. The gentleman argues that the bill before us does not come into competition with labor. Let us see for just one moment whether or not it does come in competition with outside labor.

Mr. THEODORE MORGAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. THEODORE MORGAN. Mr. Speaker, I apologize to the gentleman for interrupting him, but we are unable to hear in this part of the House. I believe that order should be kept back here. The gentlemen in back of the rail are talking, and we cannot hear. If these gentlemen are to remain in the House I think that they should keep order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has exhausted his efforts even to the point of threatening with the sergeant-at-arms. The Chair feels that with the assistance of the members in the House order could be maintained, but without the assistance of the House it is difficult for the Chair to do so. Order must be obtained back of the rail if the gentlemen desire to remain in the hall of the House.

Mr. DELL. Now, Mr. Speaker, I claim that this bill does come into contact with our outside labor. The provisions of the bill are such that the State of Pennsylvania, at an enormous expense, will establish manufacturing industries within our prison walls. The companion bill—and one of the Prison Commission lives in my town—the companion bill provides that Commissioners, at a big salary, shall have charge of the work. Then they will employ superintendents at large salaries. They will establish printing presses; they will establish various manufacturing industries within the prison walls. Then they come out in the open market and they say to our people outside, "You don't dare buy the product of any other manufacturing industries,"—a manufacturing industry that employs the labor outside the prison walls,—"unless that institution outside the prison walls can furnish your supplies at a cost less than that which is furnished by the prisoners;" or, in other words, Mr. Speaker, the State will equip a manufacturing industry; the State of Pennsylvania will direct a manufacturing industry and then it will come out on the market and say to the independent or corporate institution outside, "You don't dare sell any of your products unless the State, the county or any municipality in the State cannot find its goods that have been manufactured in the prison walls." Has it occurred to you that your county commissioners, if this bill passes, may not be able even to buy their ballots for the general election printed outside the prison walls, provided a printing establishment is set up within the prison walls and that prison establishment can print the ballots as cheaply as it can be done outside? In my own town we have the great J. C. Blair stationery manufacturing establishment. If this bill were to become a law, and the State of Pennsylvania should be pleased to do so and set up a printing establishment in the Pennsylvania industrial Reformatory, so long as the reformatory prisoners can print their material as cheaply—mark you, it don't say cheaper—so long as they can print it as cheaply as it is done by the J. C. Blair Mfg. Co.—and I use that simply to illustrate the point—the J. C. Blair people could not sell one pound of their stationery any place in the State of Pennsylvania to the school boards, to the election boards, to the boards of county commissioners or to any other board that is under the control of the county. If that is not coming into contact with our free labor, if that is not coming into contact with the principles that have made Pennsylvania a great manufacturing center of America and, indeed, the great manufacturing center of the world, I would like to know how it would be possible for a man to conceive a principle that would come into contact with it. Are we going to foster our free institutions or are we going to say to our men who have put their money in, who are employing their neighbors, are we going to say to them: "You must quit business; the State of Pennsylvania is going to set up opposition to you and no longer shall you be permitted to manufacture your goods?"

I can readily see why some of the gentlemen of the House would favor a measure of this kind but it is dangerous, as I see it, to a Commonwealth like Pennsylvania. If you want to set up government ownership, if you want to set up government control of your manufacturing industries, I can easily see why the gentleman is advocating a measure of this kind; but I don't believe Pennsylvania is ready for a proposition of this kind. We are not ready to turn Pennsylvania over to the great social principle of knocking free labor, of knocking the man who is willing to invest his brain and his money in developing an industry that will furnish the bread and butter that has made this State what it is.

This bill ought to be killed now and forever.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, it is the concensus of opinion that this is a humane piece of legislation. I believe that it is admitted by almost every man in this House; but above that I want to call attention to the fact that Pennsylvania, in the very near future, will tax the efficiency of every man in this State to produce goods. Labor to-day in Pennsylvania is forty per cent. short. How in the world will this affect labor if we now pass this bill? It will produce man-power which has been lying idle so that we can keep up the great productive State of Pennsylvania.

I believe that every man in this House should vote for it, first, because it is humane; and second, because it will help this State to produce more labor and turn out more goods because we realize that in the penal institutions men are doing nothing but wasting away. This is the time that Pennsylvania should show her efficiency not only in labor but in brains, and I believe we all should vote for the bill.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I am still not convinced that this is a bad measure. I listened very carefully to the argument presented by the gentleman from Huntingdon, Mr. Dell. But he seems to be, as I see it, laboring under the impression that one body of men is going to produce a certain amount of goods and compel another body of men to buy those goods. Now, as I see this matter, it is the public, it is the same body of men that is producing the goods through the convicts that is using the goods. We are not offering these goods in the open market and we are not competing with the manufacturers of Pennsylvania when wo do this. I say that while these institutions are owned by the public we have a right—and everybody that has studied criminology tells us that it is for the welfare and benefit of these prisoners that they should be put to work and if they are put to work we must do something with their product and why not then use it ourselves. We are only trying to use the product ourselves which we ourselves have created. Why should the goods—and in my county it is the tax-payers that own the jail and it is the taxpayers that support the jail and it is the tax-payers whose money the county commissioners disburse. Why, it is simply a matter of allowing us to use the product of our own institutions and I can see no reason why the people of Pennsylvania, why the public should not be allowed to use the products that it is enabled to make or to manufacture in the institutions which it supports and maintains.

And furthermore, I say this: That if you don't allow a thing of this kind what are you going to do with their products? Are you going to keep them idle? Are you going to put them into dungeons like years ago and have them sit there, or what are you going to do with them? I say it is for the welfare of the prisoner, it is for the welfare of the convict and it is for the welfare of the public; and I have not yet heard one good valid reason why this bill should not pass this House.

Mr. SIGGINS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, there seems to be some misapprehension as to exactly what this bill is. It is not a humane piece of legislation and it is not in the interests of prison labor. The act does not so state, at least. What this act does, it creates a central purchasing agency through which every county and institution must purchase all supplies, whether manufactured by the prisoners or whether produced at the prison or wherever produced so long as furnished through a correctional institution.

Gentlemen, there is no body in this House more interested in the humane side of prison labor than myself. I have been interested for several years in this matter and if this bill were properly drawn I would certainly support it. I believe the prisoners should work. I believe that their supplies should be furnished to institutions, but this bill is not so drawn and it is the form and the wording of the bill that I am against and not the humane side of prison labor.

This bill creates a central purchasing agency from which they buy their supplies. All supplies must be purchased from this Prison Labor Commission. The Act hardly states the basis on which it stands, that the goods are manufactured by the Prison or purchased from a firm, but it states that this State must purchase the supplie.s

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, at the time this bill was before the House I took exceptions to some of the remarks made with reference to the bill, and I yield to no man on the floor with reference to the humane treatment of all the prisoners in all the penal institutions in the State of Pennsylvania. I feel that it is the best thing that we could possibly have to treat all of our prisoners as humanely as it is possible to treat prisoners, and I find that all of the discussion from Dan to Beersheba shows that instead of our housing them up in the four walls of the prison, as this act would compel you to do and turning the prisoners within the bare walls of industry, we find these people come here for the purpose of telling us the proper thing to do as to our prison labor—out upon the lands, to give the prisoners the free open air to work in. Just what we are doing in Centre County to-day. I say that this is the only possible way to treat prisoners humanely and not turn the prisoners into institutions and use them for the purpose of manufacturing materials that will be foisted on every municipality in this State irrespective of whether they want it or not. We should not be restricted by an act such as this, because in this act we see that instead of county commissioners exercising discretionary powers for the purpose of purchasing material that they are compelled to go to this prison board and order, in order to get what they have on hand, and then the Prison Board can set the price on that material, which is just a trifle below the market price, and the county commissioners have no discretion only to buy it. You change your penal institutions into industries; you have wiped out everything in the penal code if you pass this act and my theory of treating prisoners humanely is to give them the open air; take them out on the land for the purpose of maintaining themselves and not foisting their labor on the general public, because it is only taking labor away from the people who are willing to pay for an honest conscientious day's work and for an honest conscientious day's toil.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, in answering the gentleman from Berks on the question regarding labor it is presenting a feature which I feel would be very much like that of the colored fellow who one night was in the woods and a dreadful thunder storm came up and when the lightning was flashing and the thunder was crashing, he dropped down on his knees and raised his head and said, "O Lord, if it is just the same to you, let us have a little less noise and little more light." I concede that the gentleman from Berks is the most enlightened man in this House on this subject and when he says he is in favor of the bill that eliminates the question of competition of free labor. With reference to the remarks which have been made by the gentleman from Huntingdon, I was not surprised to find, by an examination of the Journal of Prison Discipline and Philathropy, that the declared purpose of the reformatory was to prevent young first offenders from becoming confirmed criminals; hence from the beginning they were to obtain honorable and self-supporting employment and their discharge. Among the trades taught at present are those of bakers, barbers, blacksmiths, bookbinders, bricklayers, butchers, carpenters, claymodelers, cooks, electricians farmers, firemen, florists, gardeners, horseshoers, house painters, laundrymen, machinists, moulders, patternmakers, photographers plasterers, plumbers, pressmen, printers, linotype operators, stationary engineers, shoemakers, shoe and clothing cutters, sign painters, stockingmakers, stonemakers, stonemasons, tailors, tinsmiths, wagon makers, woodcarvers and wood turners. I don't believe that the gentleman from Huntingdon would be willing to tell this House that in his own county where there is in existence an institution where these trades are taught that the men in that reformatory in the slightest affected the plant of the stationery house of Blair and Company. If we examine the record which has been submitted on the question of convict free labor in other states, the only objection which can be laid to this act is the objection that it is mandatory, with the result that the public press shows us that only three institutions in the State reported all prisoners employed, and ten counties reported no employment excepting domestic service. The report points out that it is a travesty upon the law to announce a sentence at hard labor and then assign a convict to absolute idleness or light domestic service such as cooking, sweeping, etc.

There is no axiom of modern penology that carries with it more potential good for the convict than the rule that labor at some useful task or trade must be provided and remuneration given. An idle convict is one who has time and opportunity to intensify evil habits, plan revenge upon society in returning to his old haunts and old habits which consequently accelerates his physical and moral disintegration. Useful labor, particularly if it is paid for, will instill in most men the pleasure of the craftsmen in the job well done; will develop in them some pride in their old trade or the one they learn in prison; will send them to sleep with healthy fatigue and turn them out at the end of their term with money in their pockets and an honest trade with which to start anew.

The report complains that the law passed by the last Legislature providing that counties could employ all convicts in manufacturing articles which may be used in other public institutions has not been tried. This State use system is being tried in other parts of the United States and is not only benefiting the convicts, but saving money for the States and counties associated in the project.

The recommendations for using convict labor on roads, which only one county is doing, for the abolition of the fee system of getting the prisoners' food by giving the sheriff a stipulated amount each day, and the substitution of the contract system, is a wise one.

It provides also for public institutions owned, managed and controlled by the Commonwealth. Therefore we find that this act provides for the institutions of that kind, and provides to the county, and any man of this House that is unable to see the benefit in having four thousand able bodied men out of every seven thousand turned into useful labor so that our citizens shall be saved the cost and expense of the high prices, especially in these times, it seems to me he is taking a step backward.

In reply to the gentleman from Allegheny who states that all prisoners should be put on the farms, I would like to inquire of him what good it would do to put over seven thousand men on the fifty-two hundred acres of land that he speaks of in Centre County. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House the bill as you examine into its idea and the companion bill that has been spoken of, and has not yet been passed, and we have a right to examine into that with the same care that we examined into this, I ask you if you believe in the humanity that should be extended by man to his fellow men, agree to the consideration and then pass this bill.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Walker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Walker permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, with pleasure.

Mr. SIMPSON. Did I understand the gentleman to say that I made the statement that there were fifty-two acres of land?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, fifty-two hundred acres, sir, I said.

Mr. SIMPSON. Fifty-two hundred.

Mr. WALKER. Fifty-two hundred in the Western Penitentiary.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, like my friend and colleague, the gentleman from Philadelphia, I have listened with a great deal of pleasure to all of the arguments that have been presented for and against this bill, not only to-night, but when it was before the House last week. Of all the arguments that have been presented, I have been most interested in the argument presented by my friend and colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker. I want to say, members of this House, that to my mind, and I think I am speaking for you, when I say we are able, and we are intelligent, and we are good citizens enough to think for ourselves, even in respect to labor. I want to say further, that to my mind this bill is so plain that he who runs may read. It does come in competition with labor if the prisoners are to be put to work at an expense of over $275,000 to purchase the material necessary to start in operation this act. Then I say to you men be fair, and put it down once and for all, and don't go through the back door of a subterfuge. I say to you that this does compete with labor and nothing else. It says, if it says anything, that this stuff, these goods, as manufactured within the prison walls, within our institutions, and I don't care whether it is the State's money, or whose money it is, every institution, every manager of an institution, is allowed to buy? No, he is compelled to buy from the Prison Commission, and if there is one hundred thousand dollars to spend in an institution for product, for terra cotta pipe, for shoes, for what not, he must buy them from the Prison Commission unless, and the exception to my mind is the frailest part of this bill, unless somebody in the open market can undersell the Prison Commission. If that is not competing with labor, then I fail to understand it. I am in the ice business, and if my firm sells ice to an institution and the priosners start to manufacture ice, I cannot sell ice to the institution, and that is competing with labor in the open market as plain as the A, B, C's. This bill has been argued enough to my mind that every man ought to be satisfied that it is not the humane idea, no, man, it is not the humane idea, but it is first appropriating to buy materials $275,000 and then appropriating another $100,000 for salaries to run the show. Don't pass this act now. Your prisoners will be amply cared for. But if you want to put work into the prisoners' hands I say to labor, don't be deceived, this bill places this material in the open market just as much as if prison labor went out to everybody.

Mr. DELL. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, just a word in reply to what my friend, Mr. Walker, from Philadelphia, said in regard to the reformatory. He did not go on and read all the trades that are taught over there. He should have told you that they run a planing mill, then he would have completed all the different machines and industries that would be necessary to furnish all the materials that would be necessary in building a court house. If the county commissioners, if this bill were to go through, if the county commissioners were up against building a court house they would be compelled, unless somebody would undersell the institution, they would be obliged to buy all the material made by prison labor, and would not be allowed to go out in the open market to buy it. We do not teach all these trades at the reformatory. I am familiar with all their work. We take the boys from Philadelphia, from Pittsburgh, and from every other town and county in the Commonwealth, and we teach them a trade, and then we send them out over the State to compete with others who have learned a trade, but we do not say we will teach them a trade and then compel every man to buy the products of their trade as against the man who has learned his trade outside of the prison walls.

Mr. RININGER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that this question has been thoroughly discussed, and I therefore move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members:

Messrs. Albee, Beyer, Bovee, Conner, Cox, Wlliam Davis, Drinkhouse, Ehrhardt, Gans, Goodwin, Graeff, McNichol, Conrad G. Miller, Milner, Powell, Rininger, Rogers, Sampsell, Scott, Siggins, Jefferson W. Smith, Snyder, Speicher, Stites, Urich, George W. Williams and John P. Williams.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Flynn and Mr. Dell and were as follows, viz:

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate Bill No. 729, File Folio 1631, entitled

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the several courts of the Thirty-eighth Judicial District be placed upon the calendar of the House notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the committee.

Mr. CHRISTMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, this bill passed the Senate a week or so ago. It provides for an additional law judge in the thirty-eighth judicial district, which is Montgomery county. Our idea for asking you to put this bill on the calendar is that it only applies to Montgomery county and we should give these gentlemen a chance to show whether it is necessary for this additional judge in Montgomery county.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to tell the members of the House that this bill has been amply discussed by the members from Montgomery county and by the bar of Montgomery county, and that we held a public hearing in the caucus room of the House, which was duly advertised and attended; and at that committee hearing the members of the Montgomery county bar spoke for and against this bill, that the testimony was duly recorded and printed, and submitted by the sub-committee who heard the testimony, to the Appropriations Committee of this House. That Appropriations Committee, gentlemen, put this bill out with a negative recommendation. I want to tell every one here that I am from the county of Montgomery, and live in the town of Norristown, and that I know what I am talking about when I say that at the present time the majority of the bar, the judges, and the majority of my constituents there, do not want another judge. If you put this bill back on the calendar, you will simply be taking up the valuable time of this House. You will simply have another long discussion such as the many we have endured. You will make it necessary for me to bring out statements against people who are my friends, to show what is back of this bill. You will make it unpleasant for every one, and cause a useless, lengthy and unnecessary amount of discussion. Furthermore the Appropriations Committee ably discussed this and spent sufficient time to say whether they should give seven thousand dollars of this state's money, when no one in that county requested it or adhered to it except those few that appeared here. Gentlemen, we can give you full testimony; we have it in due form, and if you vote to restore this to the calendar we can give you that testimony, but I say it again and I want to impress it on you that this bill had a fair hearing. A delegation came up here for that purpose. It was advertised and the hearing was a public hearing. I see no reason why the will of the Appropriations Committee of the House should be overthrown on this matter.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Phillips.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Phillips, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PHILLIPS. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Clearfield what interest he has in this bill, when it relates to Montgomery county exclusively.

Mr. PHILLIPS. I have no interest in it, Mr. Speaker, any more than to allow these gentlemen to bring this bill up before the House and discuss it. We have had people from other counties that have asked for legislation that referred particularly to their county, and the bills were brought out on the floor of the House and discussed. These gentlemen ought to have the same right as anybody else. They should be given the same right as is given to those who come from some other counties.

Mr. SIMPSON. Is that all the interest you have in it?

Mr. PHILLIPS. I have no further interest in it, Mr. Speaker. I do not expect to be a candidate for judge in Montgomery county.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would not imagine that the gentleman from Clearfield would be a candidate for judge in Montgomery County. I was one of the sub-committee appointed by the Appropriations Committee for the purpose of hearing the arguments for and against this bill. Mr. Boyd, Mr. Flynn and mysel composed that committee. A hearing was set and the bar from Montgomery county appeared before that sub-committee. Senator Croft, I think, had charge of the witnesses, or the attorneys, who spoke for the bill, and the dean of the bar of Montgomery County had charge of the other side. I think the time consumed was about half a day, listening to the testimony, and before the report was made up that sub-committee we waited to get the stenographic report that was furnished by the stenographer who took the notes at the hearing. At the hearing it developed that there had never been a meeting of the Montgomery County Bar Association for the purpose of discussing this bill or increasing the number of judges in that county. The person who presented the bill himself said that he had not discussed it with a member of the Montgomery County Bar Association, and the reason that he assigned for that was that he did not think it was necessary, no necessity on a matter as important as increasing the law judges of the county; that it was not necessary to bring that up before the bar association of that county, to receive the endorsement of the bar association. Who would know better whether or not a county the size of Montgomery would need an additional law judge,—who would know better than the bar association? Who would know better than the men who appear daily before the courts for the purpose of trying their cases, who would know better than the bar association? They are the people who appear here right along. They are the people who take care of the litigants that appear in those courts, and yet that question was never brought up before that association. I examined the evidence, and every one of them said that at the present time there calendars are up, that there is not a solitary civil case on the calendar of Montgomery county now that could be tried any sooner if they had three additional judges, and every witness that appeared there, every lawyer that appeared for the bill, said that their criminal calendar was disposed of regularly every four months, in two weeks, and they had no need now of an additional judge for the purpose of bringing their cases up in order that the litigants might have their cases tried expeditiously as they should have; but that the judges there could try every case on the calendar and every case was up within six months or as quickly as it is possible to get a case tried from the time of issuing your summons until it is taken before the traverse jury.

When we listened to that testimony,—and that testimony came from both sides, not one alone, came from both sides —and after going over the stenographic report after it had been prepared we formulated this report because we thought it was the only just and equitable thing to do for this House and we felt that Montgomery County is in no need of an additional law judge at the present time. All the discussion with reference to the additional judge happened three years ago when both of their law judges were sick but after they got into position whereby they could take up their work they cleaned up the calendar, and the calendar of Montgomery County is now up and that is the reason that this negative recommendation was made to this House.

Mr. STITES. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, in this little family squabble that seems to be going on I feel it is somewhat my duty to take a little part. I am somewhat like the Irishman who went into a saloon and saw two men struggling on the floor and he said to the bartender, "Is this a private fight or can anybody get into it?"—Insofar as this question is concerned regarding Montgomery County, I want to say that there did appear to be a difference of opinion about it when the proponents and opponents of the bill appeared before the committee. The older members of the bar seemd opposed to it and a large delegation of the younger members of the bar was strongly in favor of it. It does seem to me as a matter of courtesy that this bill should come on the floor of the House and there have the merits and demerits properly set forth. The bill was introduced by the Senator from Montgomery County, passed the Senate without difficulty and went before the committee of the House. It seems to me it has been a matter of uniform courtesy that in a simple matter of this kind that the bill should have a chance to come upon the floor of the House so that it could be fairly discussed at some length in order that the right side and the wrong side of it might be properly set before the House and therefore it seems to me that this motion should prevail.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I don't rise here as a teller of funny stories. You come down to the Columbus with me after the session is over and I will tell you a bunch of them.

I am up here to defend my county and I know what is right in that county and if it is necessary, if this thing gets on the calendar I will show you what is right in that county because I have it right here in black and white.

Now, as far as Mr. Stites is concerned I don't want to get into a quarrel with him. He and I have gotten along very well during this term and I am not inviting trouble with him. I only want to say this: That Mr. Stites comes from the edge of our county and he seldom practices in our county. He practices mostly in Philadelphia and he gets very little at our bar. He was at the hearing and never said a word for or against this bill, but in the testimony a matter came up that Mr. Stites himself thought of presenting such a bill and perhaps he would b ein sympathy with it. I don't see any reason to go into all these personal things. We don't want to have Montgomery county here on the floor as rotten as Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "noes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for and fifty-seven gentlemen voting in the affirmative and one hundred four in the negative, the motion was not agreed to.

BILLS ON FIRST READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 110, entitled

An act to amend an act approved the twelfth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven entitled "An act regulating the compensation of county auditors within this commonwealth"

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1875 (Senate Bill No. 958), entitled

An act authorizing the county of Philadelphia to bring suit against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the court of common pleas of Philadelphia county for moneys advanced for the payment of expenses incident to the conduct of primary elections.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair would like to call up at this time House Bill No. 1804, File Folio 4815, on page 13 of today's calendar, which, if it becomes a law, will allow the members to get a couple hundred dollars this week.

The Chair hears no objection.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1804, entitled

An Act to amend section four of an act, entitled "An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive, judicial and legislative departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ARON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor of this bill explain it.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, in 1911, the original act that was passed provided that all weighing and measuring devices should be inspected by the Sealer of Weights and Measure, and I have no doubt the man who framed that bill forgot that there was another very important factor in the way of weighing and measuring, and that is the weighing of a workmen's product to determine how much his wages may be. If the original bill was a good one, which no doubt it was, at least we think so, every purchaser of merchandise is supposed now to receive honest weight and honest measure. Now it is equally as fair that a working man who bears the heat and burden of the day, and who has his labors weighed to determine how much wages are due him, it is equally as fair that the scales that weigh his day's labor should be equally as well tested and made secure. That is the requirement of this bill. It requires the Sealer of Weights and Measures to seal and inspect this class of scales in mines, quarries and manufacturing establishments.

Mr. BOULTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. McCurdy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCURDY. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOULTON. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that a bill identical with this in almost every respect was introduced by Mr. Hollern of Cambria County, and has already passed this House and gone to the Senate?

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman across on the other side of the House, I would say Mr. Hollern's bill passed this House and required the Sealer of Weights and Measures to inspect the scales of coal mines. This bill requires the Sealer of Weights and Measures to inspect the scales of coal mines, quarries and manufacturers, and therefore I think it is a very fair and just bill, and I hope that the members here will vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Legislative Journal.

Session 1917 — 122nd of the General Assembly

VOL. 4. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 15, 1917. No. 55.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, May 15, 1917.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. E. E. Beidleman) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee for this beautiful morning. We pray that Thy blessing may be with His Excellency, the Governor, and with his advisers, and with the presiding officer and all the members of this body. We pray for those who have met with an accident or who are retained at home through illness themselves or through the illness of their families. We pray that Thy blessing may be with them in a special manner. Guide us we pray Thee in this great United States so that we shall concentrate our thought and convictions upon the great problems that are facing us today. We ask these blessings in our Saviour's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SPROUL, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 928, entitled

An Act to authorize county commissioners to appropriate from moneys received from dog taxes certain sums to societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, there seems to be some misapprehension regarding the provisions of this bill. The bill does not require county commissioners to make an appropriation to Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, but it permits them to do so. Under the new Dog Tax Law which requires that all dogs be registered by the country and wear tags, it is necessary for the county commisions to employ somebody to go around and kill unregistered dogs, but is a pretty difficult matter to get any decent man to do that and the result has been in some counties that roughnecks and thugs of the lowest type have been sent around to kill the dogs and this has been done in a very brutal and horrible way and to the great scandal of the community. Now in some counties where there are well organized societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals, these societies are willing to undertake the putting of these dogs out of the way in a humane and decent manner and this bill permits the county commissioners to make such arrangements.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 8 The main drainage system of every house or building shall be separately and independently connected with the street sewer where such sewer exists except where two houses are built together in a lot with a frontage of thirty feet or less when one connection with main sewer will be allowed but there shall be a separate house drain for each house connected by a "Y" connection in the front of such houses at the property line with main house sewer or where one building exists or is erected in the rear of another on an interior lot of single ownership and no private sewer is available or can be made for the rear building through an adjoining alley courtyard or driveway the house drain from the front building may be extended to the rear building and the whole will be considered as one house drain or where a private automobile garage exists or is erected in the rear of a dwelling and there are no living quarters in the garage the sewer from garage may be connected to the house sewer with extra heavy cast-iron pipe carried to garage and the whole will be considered as one house drain

Where it is necessary to construct a private sewer to connect with sewer on adjacent street such plans may be used as may be approved by the department or board or bureau of health but in no case shall joint drains be laid in cellars parallel with the street or alley

House drains or soil-pipes laid beneath floor must be extra heavy cast-iron pipe (as per table in section sixteen) with locked and caulked joints and carried five feet outside of all exterior walls All drains or soil-pipes connected with main drain where it is above the cellar floor shall be of extra heavy cast-iron pipe with locked and caulked joints or of heavy galvanized wrought-iron pipe with screw joints properly secured and carried five feet outside exterior walls and all arrangements of soil or waste-pipes shall be as direct as possible All wrought-iron pipes shall be galvanized Changes of direction on pipes shall be made with "Y" branches and cleanout plugs installed at all abrupt turns Where sewer and waste-pipes are under floor cleanout plugs must be brought on a forty-five degree angle and flush with floor level and where such pipes pass through a new foundation-wall a relieving arch shall be built over it with two-inch space on either side of main pipe

The size of the main house drain shall be determined by the total area of the buildings and paved surfaces to be drained according to the following table if iron pipe is used If the pipe is terra cotta the diameter shall be one size larger for the same amount of area drainage

Diameter	Fall ¼ Inch per Foot	Fall ½ Inch per Foot
4 ins.,	1,800 sq. ft. drainage area,	2,500 sq. ft. drainage area
5 ins.,	3,000 sq. ft. drainage area,	4,500 sq. ft. drainage area
6 ins.,	5,000 sq. ft. drainage area,	7,500 sq. ft. drainage area
8 ins.,	9,100 sq. ft. drainage area,	13,600 sq. ft. drainage area
10 ins.,	14,000 sq. ft. drainage area,	20,000 sq. ft. drainage area

The main house drains may be decreased in diameter beyond a rain water conductor or surface inlet by permission of the department or board or bureau of health when the plans show that conditions are such as to warrant such decrease but in no case shall the main house trap or house drain when installed be less than four (4) inches in diameter

Gasoline and Oil Separators

The sewers of all factories refiners cleaning establishments garages or other buildings that use or store gasoline or volatile oils shall be equipped with approved gasoline and oil separating catch basins These catch basins or traps shall be arranged according to the latest approved methods and include all traps baffel plates and vents necessary to prevent the gasoline and oil from entering the main sewers The health department is hereby vested with the power to order and insist upon the installation of a device that will prevent gasoline from entering the main sewers and they shall notify and compel the owners or occupants of any building or buildings who allow or permit gasoline or oil entering the sewers to equip all buildings with such devices as they deem necessary to protect the main sewers

Chemical Laboratories

Chemical laboratories factories, newspaper offices lithograph offices or any building in which large quantities of acids are used shall make separate arrangements with the plumbing inspector regarding the waste-pipe and vents from such sinks and plumbing fixtures

Section 5 That section nine of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Location of Main Trap

Section 9 "The house drain must be provided with a horizontal trap placed immediately inside the cellar wall The trap must be provided with a hand-hole for convenience in cleaning the cover of which must be properly fitted and made gas and air-tight with heavy brass screw-cap ferrule caulked in This class of traps shall be subject to the approval of the board or bureau of health" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Location of Main Trap

Section 9 The house trap should if possible be placed immediately inside the cellar wall The trap must be provided with a hand-pole for convenience in cleaning the cover of which must be properly fitted and made gas and air-tight with heavy brass screw-cap ferrule caulked in The installation of this trap shall be subject to the approval of the board or bureau of health

Section 6 That section twelve of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Location of House Sewer

"Section 12 "When main sewer is not located on street house sewers must be constructed on outside of buildings and branch into each house separately and in no case will the sewer from one house to another be permitted to run through cellars" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Location of House Sewer

Section 12 When main sewer is not located on street house sewers must be constructed on outside of buildings and lot line and branch into each house separately and in no case will the sewer from one house to another be permitted to run through cellars

Section 7 That section fourteen of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Material of Sewers between Buildings

"Section 14 Where a sewer is laid between buildings in a passageway alley or courtyard at a less distance than five feet from the buildings it must be constructed of extra heavy cast-iron pipe for a distance corresponding to the length of the foundation of said building" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Material of Sewers Between Buildings

Section 14 Where a sewer is laid between buildings in a passageway alley or courtyard at a less distance than five feet from the buildings and adjoining property line it must be constructed of extra heavy cast-iron pipe for a distance corresponding to the length of the foundations of said buildings or adjoining property line

Section 8 That section twenty of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Leader Pipes

"Section 20 All buildings shall be kept provided with proper metallic leaders for conducting water from the roofs in such manner as shall protect the walls and foundations of said building from injury In no case shall the water from said leaders be allowed to flow upon the sidewalk but the same shall be conducted by a pipe or pipes to the sewer If there be no sewer in the street upon which such buildings front then the water from said leaders shall be conducted by proper pipe or pipes below the surface of the sidewalk to the street gutter" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Leader Pipes

Section 20 All buildings shall be kept provided with proper metallic leaders for conducting water from the roofs in such manner as shall protect the walls and foundations of said building or buildings from injury In no case shall the water from said leaders be allowed to flow upon the sidewalk but the same shall be conducted by a pipe or pipes to the storm sewer accessible either from the front or rear of the buildings If there be no storm sewer in the street upon which the building fronts or no such storm sewer otherwise accessible then the water from said leaders shall be conducted by proper pipe or pipes below the surface of the sidewalk to the street gutter In no event shall the waters from said leaders be allowed to flow into sanitary sewers and in case where storm sewers shall now or hereafter be constructed or provided either in font of the buildings or otherwise accessible the owners shall upon twenty days' notice in writing from the Department of Health so to do disconnect such leaders from the sanitary sewers and connect them with the storm sewers

The sanitary sewer as referred to in this act shall mean the public sewer which is now or may hereafter be laid to carry domestic or house sewage only

The storm sewer as referred to in this act shall mean the public sewer which is laid for the sole purpose of providing drainage for storm and surface water and excludes all sewage containing putrefying matter

Section 9 That section twenty-one of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which as amended by said act of May fourteenth nineteen hundred and nine reads as follows

Material for Inside and Outside Leaders

"Section 21 Inside leaders must be constructed of cast-iron wrought iron or steel with roof connections made gas and water-tight by means of heavy copper-drawn tubing slipped into the pipe The tubing must extend at least seven (7) inches into iron leader pipes Outside leaders may be sheet metal but they must connect with house drain by means of a cast-iron pipe extending vertically five (5) feet above grade level where the building is located along public driveways or sidewalks Where the building is located off building line and not liable to be damaged the connection shall be made with iron pipe extending at least one foot above grade level" be and the same is hereby further amended to read as follows

Material for Inside and Outside Leaders

Section 21 Inside leaders must be constructed of cast-iron galvanized wrought-iron or steel with approved roof connections made gas and water-tight Outside leaders may be sheet metal but they must connect with house drain by means of cast-iron pipe extending vertically five (5) feet above grade level where the building is located along public driveways or sidewaks Where the building is located off building line and not liable to be damaged the connection shall be made with iron-pipe extending at least one foot above grade level

Section 10 That section twenty-two of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Trapping of Leaders

"Section 22 All leaders must be trapped with cast-iron running traps so placed as to prevent freezing" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Trapping of Leaders

Section 22 All leaders must be trapped with cast-iron traps so placed as to prevent freezing One or more leaders may be connected by one trap where leader traps are placed inside of buildings they must be provided with cleanout plugs caulked in as provided for in section forty-one.

Section 11 That section twenty-five of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which as amended by said act of May fourteenth nineteen hundred and nine reads as follows

Diameter of Soil-Pipes

Section 25 The smallest diameter of any soil-pipe permitted to be used shall be four-inch The size of soil pipes must be not less than those set forth in the following tables

Maximum Number of Fixtures connected to

Size of Pipe	Soil and Waste Combined		Soil-Pipe Alone
	Branch	Main	Branch	Main
4 in.,	48 fixtures	96 fixtures	8 water-closets	16 water-closets
5 in.,	96 fixtures	192 fixtures	16 water-closets	32 water-closets
6 in.,	268 fixtures	336 fixtures	34 water-closets	68 water-closets

If the building is six (6) and less than twelve stories in height the diameter shall be not less than five (5) inches if more than twelve (12) stories it shall be six (6) inches in diameter A building six or more stories in height with fixtures located below the sixth floor soil-pipe four (4) inches in diameter will be allowed to extend through the roof provided the number of fixtures does not exceed the number given in the table

All soil-pipes must extend at least two feet above the highest window and must not be reduced in size Traps will not be permitted on main vertical soil or waste lines Each house must have a separate line of soil and vent-pipes No soil or waste line shall be constructed on the outside of a building

One and one-quarter inch traps count as one fixture
One and one-half inch traps count as one fixture
Two inch traps count as two fixtures
Two and one-half inch traps count as three fixtures
Three inch traps (water-closets) count as four fixtures
Four inch traps count as five fixtures" be and the same is hereby further amended to read as follows

Diameter of Soil-Pipes

Section 25 The smallest diameter of any soil-pipe permitted to be used shall be three-inch The size of soil-pipes must not be less than those set forth in the following tables

Maximum Number of Fixtures Connected to—

Size of Pipe	Soil and Waste Combined		Soil-Pipe Alone
	Branch	Main	Branch	Main
3 in.,	6 fixtures	10 fixtures	1 water-closet	1 water-closet
4 in.,	48 fixtures	96 fixtures	8 water-closets	16 water-closets
5 in.,	96 fixtures	192 fixtures	16 water-closets	32 water-closets
6 in.,	268 fixtures	336 fixtures	34 water-closets	68 water-closets

If the building is six (6) and less than twelve (12) stories in height the diameter shall be not less than five (5) inches if more than twelve (12) stories it shall be six (6) inches in diameter A building six or more stories in height with fixtures located below the sixth floor soil-pipe four (4) inches in diameter will be allowed to extend through the roof provided the number of fixtures does not exceed the number given in the table

All soil-pipes must extend at least two feet above the roof and must not be reduced in size Traps will not be permitted on main vertical soil or waste lines Each house must have a separate line of soil and vent-pipes No soil or waste line shall be constructed on the outside of a building

One and one-quarter inch traps count as one fixture
One and one-half inch traps count as one fixture
Two-inch traps count as two fixtures
Two and one-half inch traps count as three fixtures
Three inch traps (water-closets) count as four fixtures
Four-inch traps count as five fixtures

Section 12 That section twenty-six of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Changes in Direction

"Section 26 All sewer soil and waste pipes must be as direct as possible Changes in direction must be made with 'Y' or half 'Y' branches or one-eight bends Offsets in soil or waste pipes will not be permitted when they can be avoided nor in any case unless suitable provision is made to prevent accumulation of rust or other obstruction Offsets shall be made with forty-five degree bends or similar fittings The use of T 'Y's' (Sanitary T's) will be permitted on upright lines only" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Change in Direction

Section 26 All sewer soil or waste pipes must be as direct as possible Changes in direction must be made with "Y" or half "Y" branches or one-eight bends Offsets in soil or waste pipes will not be permitted when they can be avoided nor in any case unless suitable provision is made to prevent accumulation of rust or other obstruction Offsets shall be made with forty-five degree bends or similar fittings The use of T "Y's" (Sanitary "T's") will be permitted on upright lines only The use of saddles or the tapping of soil waste or vent pipes is prohibited unless their use is proven to be absolutely necessary.

Section 13 That section twenty-seven of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Joints for Soil and Waste Pipes

"Section 27 Joints in cast-iron pipes and soil and waste-pipes must be so filled with oakum and lead and hand-caulked as to make them gas-tight Connections of lead and cast-iron pipes must be made with brass sleeve or ferrule of the same size as the lead pipe inserted in the hub of the iron pipe and caulked with lead The lead pipe must be attached to the ferrule by wiped joint Joints between lead and wrought iron pipes must be made with brass nipple of same size as lead pipe The lead pipe must be attached to the nipple by wiped joint All connections of lead waste pipe must be made by means of wiped joints" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows,

Joints and Connections

Section 27 All joints and connections prescribed under this title shall be made gas and water tight Joints in galvanized iron mild steel or brass pipe shall be standard screw joints and all burs or cuttings shall be removed

Connections between the sewer side of all plumbing fixtures traps and the drainage system shall be made by means of plumbers' wiped joint caulked joint or screw threaded joint or ground metal to metal joints and such joints shall be of as permanent a nature as any portion of the drainage system No putty cement slip joints or composition joints shall be permitted on the sewer side of any trap All joints shall be made up with an approved sealing material Connections between wrought iron mild steel or brass to cast iron shall be either a caulked joint or screwed joint

All unions used on the sewer side of traps shall be ground faced and shall not be concealed or enclosed No slip joint connection will be allowed on the sewer side of the trap

Lead pipe joints in lead pipe or between lead pipes and pipes of brass or copper shall have an exposed surface of the solder to each side of the joint of at least three-quarters (¾) of an inch Joints between lead and iron pipes shall be made by extra heavy cast or drawn screw nipple with either a caulked joint or a soldered nipple with a threaded joint or approved concaved brass bushings

Where cup or similar ferrules are used they shall extend not less than one-quarter (¼) inch above the hub

Where different sizes of pipe or pipes and fittings are to be connected proper size increasers or reducers pitched to an angle of forty-five degrees between the two sizes shall be used

Connections or joints on all sewer soil waste vent and conductor pipes in any and all buildings shall be locked together with material that has a strength equalling the strength of the material used in the wall of the pipe The joints or connections shall be locked together by members which engage oblique surfaces between the hub and pipe all such locking members being independent of the material with which the joints are sealed Joints shall show no signs of failure and shall not develop leaks under a stress that will rupture the wall of the pipe or fittings The sealing and packing material used in making connections or joints on all drainage soil waste vent and conductor pipes shall be composed of material that will not deteriorate and cannot be affected by contact with acids or alkalies The packing and sealing material used in joining the pipes shall be so placed that it cannot work out of the enlarged portion of the connections and all joints shall be so shaped that any end movement of the pipes in the joint would compress the sealing material

Any fitting or connection which has an enlargement chamber or recess with a ledge shoulder or reduction of the pipe area in the direction of the flow on the outlet or drain side of any trap is prohibited

Connections or hangers pipe supports or fixture settings with masonry or stone backing shall be made with expansion bolts without the use of wood plugs

Section 14 That section twenty-eight of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Traps for Bath-tubs Water-closets et Cetera

"Section 28 Every sink bath-tub basin water-closet slop hopper or fixture having a waste pipe must be furnished with a trap which shall be placed as close as practicable to the fixture that it serves and in no case shall they be more than one foot from said fixture The waste-pipe from the bath-tub or other fixtures must not be connected with a water-closet traps" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Traps for Bath-tubs Water-closets et cetera

"Section 28 Every sink bath-tub basin water-closet slop hopper or fixture having a waste-pipe must be furnished with a trap which shall be placed as close as practicable to the fixture that it serves and in no case shall they be more than one foot from said fixture and the horizontal waste from P-trap must not be longer than eighteen inches from vertical vent pipe unless P-trap is crown vented The waste-pipe from the bath-tub or other fixtures must not be connected with a water-closet trap"

Section 15 That section twenty-nine of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which as amended by said act of May fourteenth nineteen hundred and nine reads as follows

Size of Horizontal and Vertical Wast-pipe Traps and Branches

Horizontal and Vertical	Number of Small Fixtures
1¼ inches	1
1½ inches	2
2 inches	3 to 8
2½ inches	9 to 20
3 inches	21 to 44

If building is ten (10) or more stories in height the vertical waste-pipe shall not be less than three (3) inches in diameter The use of wrought iron pipe for waste-pipe two inches or less in diameter is prohibited

The size of traps and waste branches for a given fixture shall be as follows

Kind of Fixtures	Size in Inches Trap	Branch
Water closet	3	4
Slop sink with trap combined	3	3
Slop sink ordinary	2	2
Pedestal urinal	3	3
Floor drain or wash	4	4
Yard drain or catch basin	4	4

Section 16 That section thirty-three of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Safe and Refrigerator Waste-Pipes

"Section 33 Safe waste-pipes must not connect directly with any part of the plumbing system Safe waste-pipes must discharge over an open water supplied publicly placed ordinarily used sink placed not more than three and one-half feet above the cellar floor The safe waste from a refrigerator must be trapped at the bottom of the line only and must not discharge upon the ground floor but over an ordinary portable pan or some properly trapped water supplied sink as above In no case shall the refrigerator waste-pipe discharge over a sink located in a room used for living purposes

The branches on vertical lines must be made by "Y" fittings and be carried to the safe with as much pitch as possible Where there is an offset on a refrigerator waste-pipe in cellar there must be cleanouts to control the horizontal part of the pipe

In tenement and lodging houses the refrigerator waste-pipes must extend above the roof and not be larger than one and one-half inches nor the branches less than one and one-quarter inches Refrigerator waste-pipes except in tenement houses and all safe waste-pipes must have brass flap-valves at their lower ends Lead safes must be graded and neatly turned over beveled strips at their edges" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 33 A waste-pipe from refrigerators ice-boxes drinking fountains soda water fountains or bar wastes shall not be connected directly with any soil rain waste-pipe or drain sewer or discharge on the open ground They shall discharge into a movable pan or any open sink water supplied or over a floor drain in basement and shall be as short as possible and disconnected from the refrigerator or ice box by at least four (4) inches and where drinking fountains refrigerators or ice boxes are placed in buildings on two (2) or more floors the waste and vent pipes thereof shall be continuous and shall run through the roof and in no case shall it be within six (6) feet of an open soil or waste pipe The size of waste-pipes for refrigerators or drinking fountains for two floors or less shall be at least one and one-half inches and two inches for three floors and over Each refrigerator drinking fountain or ice box shall be provided with a separate trap traps for refrigerators or ice boxes shall be known as a drum trap with an accessible trap screw or cleanout Such traps shall be placed in the one and one-fourth (1) inch waste-pipe branch and shall be as near as possible to the refrigerator or ice box Such traps need not be separately vented Galvanized wrought iron screw pipe may be used for such waste pipes

Section 17 That section thirty-four of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Material for Vent-Pipes

"Section 34 All vent-pipes must either be of lead brass loricated porcelain enameled iron or galvanized iron pipe" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Material for Vent-Pipes

Section 34 All vent pipes must either be of lead brass extra heavy cast iron or galvanized iron pipe

The eighteenth section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 18 That section thirty-five of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which as amended by said act of May fourteenth nineteen hundred and nine reads as follows

Ventilation of Traps and Soil Lines

Size of Pipe	Maximum Developed Length in Feet Mains	Number of Traps Vented Branch	Main	Verical
1¼ inch vent	20	1
1½ inch vent	40	2 or less..
2 inch vent	65	10 or less..		20 or less
2½ inch vent	100	20 or less..		40 or less
3 inch vent	10 or more stories	60 or less..		100 or less

The branch vent-pipes shall be not less than the following sizes

One and one-fourth inches in diameter for one and one-fourth inch traps

One and one-half inches in diameter for one and one-half inch to two and one-half inch traps

Two inches in diameter for three inch to four inch traps

One-half their diameter for traps five inches and over

Where two (2) or more waster-closets are placed side by side on a horizontal branch the branch line shall have a relief extended as a loop vent A pipe two (2) inches in diameter will be sufficient as a loop vent for two (2) closets A pipe three (3) inches in diameter shall be used as a relief for three (3) or four (4) closets and where more than four (4) closets are located on the same branch the relief shall not be less than four (4) inches in diameter All house drains and soil lines on which water-closet is located must have a four-inch main vent line Where an additional closet is located in the cellar or basement and within ten feet of main soil or vent line no relief vent will be required for said closet but where it is more than ten feet a two-inch vent line will be required Relief vent pipes for water-closets must not be less than two inches in diameter for a length of forty feet and not less than three inches in diameter for more than forty feet

No revent from traps under bell-traps will be required

Any building having a sewer connection with a public or private sewer used for bell-trap connection or floor drainage only a two-inch relief line must be extended to the roof of building from rear end of main drain House drains constructed for roof drainage only will not require a relief vent

A floor-trap for a shower shall be vented unless located in cellar or ground floor the paving of which renders the trap inaccessible If the number of these fixtures on a branch is two (2) or more the waste line shall be extended as a loop vent instead of back venting the separate traps and when located in basement floor they shall be provided with a removable strainer or cleanout

Back vent pipes from traps above the floor must either be connected with crown of trap with ground-in brass coupling or if connected solidly to trap must have a ground-in brass coupling at wall" be and the same is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 35 Traps shall be protected from siphonage or air pressure by special vent-pipes of a size not less than the following tables and where it is a greater distance than that given in the table it shall be one size larger its entire length

Size of Pipe	Maximum Developed Length in Feet Mains	Number of Traps Vented Branch	Main	Verical
1¼ inch vent	20	1
1½ inch vent	40	2 or less..
2 inch vent	65	10 or less..		20 or less
2½ inch vent	100	20 or less..		40 or less
3 inch vent	10 or more stories	60 or less..		100 or less

The branch vent-pipes shall not be less than the following sizes

One and one-fourth inches in diameter for one and one-fourth inch traps

One and one-half inches in diameter for one or two one and one-half traps or one two (2) inch trap

Two inches in diameter for three inch to four inch traps

One-half their diameter for traps five inches and over

Where two (2) or more water-closets are placed side by side on a horizontal branch the branch line shall have a relief as a loop vent A pipe two (2) inches in diameter will be sufficient as a loop vent for two (2) closets A pipe three inches in diameter shall be used as a relief for three (3) or four (4) closets and where more than four (4) closets are located on the same branch the relief shall, not be less than four (4) inches in diameter All house drains and soil lines on which a water-closet is located must have a main vent line not less than three (3) inches in diameter Where an additional closet is located in the cellar or basement and within ten feet of main soil or vent line no relief vent will be required for said closet but where it is more than ten feet a two-inch vent line will be required Relief vent pipes for water-closets must not be less than two inches in diameter for a length of sixty-five feet and not less than three inches in diameter for more than sixty-five feet In any house that has a three-inch vent through the roof a closet set on the first floor may be vented with a two-inch pipe

No revent from traps under bell-trap will be required

Any building having a sewer connection with a public or private sewer used for bell-trap connections or floor drainage only a two-inch relief line must be extended to the roof of building from rear end of main drain House drains constructed for roof drainage only will not require a relief vent All bell-traps floor drains or yard cesspools shall be connected to the sewer by means of a joint or connection that is as secure as the joints on the main drainage system Slip joints putty joints or open joints will not be permitted on any part of the drainage system

In the event that a building if higher than an adjoining one the owner of the higher building shall not locate windows within twelve (12) feet of any existing vent stack on the lower building unless the owner of such building shall defray the expense of or shall himself make such alteration necessary to extend the vent pipe above all windows on the higher building

It shall be the duty of the owner of the lower or existing building to make such alteration therein upon the receipt in advance of money or security therefor sufficient for the purpose from the owner of the higher building or he shall permit at the election of the owner of the higher building the right to make such alteration by the owner of said higher building

If the number of those fixtures on a branch is two (2) or more the waste line shall be extended as a loop vent instead of back venting the separate traps and when located in basement floor they shall be provided with a removable strainer or cleanout

Back vent pipes from traps above the floor must either be connected with crown of trap with ground-in brass coupling or if connected solidly to trap must have a ground-in brass coupling at wall

Section 19 That section thirty-eight of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Connection for Closet Vents

"Section 38 Rubber connections for back vents will not be permitted without double coupling and thimble inside" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Connection for Closet Vents

Section 38 All wrought iron or mild steel pipe used for soil waste or vent pipes shall be galvanized and not lighter than the commercial grade known as "Full weight" The fittings for wrought iron or mild steel waste soil and refrigerator waste shall be cast or malleable iron or brass recessed drainage fittings with smooth interior waterway and threads tapped out of solid metal so as to give a uniform grade to branches of not less than one-fourth of an inch per foot Threaded fittings for soil waste and vent pipes shall be brass galivanized malleable iron or cast iron All lead pipe used for branch soil waste vent or flush pipes shall be of best quality of drawn pipe of not less weight per lineal foot than shown in the following table

Internal Diameter	Weight per Ft.
1 inch	1 lb. 8 oz.
1¼ inch	2 lb. 8 oz.
1½ inch	3 lb. 8 oz.

Brass fittings shall be good quality cast brass having a thickness in their walls not less than the tubular thickness given above for the corresponding brass pipe The thickness of the tapped ends to be one and one-half (1½) times the thickness of the corresponding pipe

Kind of Traps Every trap shall be self-cleaning No form which depends upon the action of movable parts for its seal shall be used No trap which depends upon concealed interior partitions for its seal or which has an interior partition that in case of defect would allow the passage of sewer air shall be used

Traps for bath tubs basins sinks or other similar fixtures shall be made of lead brass galvanized iron or of iron porcelain enameled inside Galvanized or porcelain enameled iron traps shall be extra heavy full bore and have a smooth interior waterway and threads tapped out of solid metal

Iron drum traps shall be made of extra heavy cast or malleable iron galivanized or porcelain enameled on the inside and the drum shall not exceed four (4) inches in diameter

Drum traps shall have a water seal of not more than seven (7) inches nor less than two and one-half (2½) inches

Weter seal Each trap placed on any portion of the drainage system shall have a water seal of not less than two and one-half (2½) inches

Each trap except those in combination with fixtures where the trap seal is plainly visible and accessible shall be provided with a brass trap screw Traps placed between the floor shall have a brass trap screw for cleaning in plain view or flush with the floor or readily accessible from or under the floor

Trap levels and protection All traps shall be rigidly supported and set true with respect to their water level and shall be so located as to protect their seals

Traps prohibited on drains There shall be no trap at the foot of soil or waste pipe stacks

Section 20 That section forty-five of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Water-Closet Connections with Soil-Pipe

"Section 45 All earthenware traps must have heavy brass floor plates soldered to the lead bends and bolted to the trap flange and the joint made permanently secure and gas-tight" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Water-Closet Connection with Soil-Pipe

Section 45 Water-closets slop sinks clinic slop sinks pedestal urinals and all fixtures having integral traps shall be attached to the drainage system by means of a screw joint fitting or metal to metal joint or by means of a metal to metal or water sealed joint that is attached to the bowl trap in a permanent manner and so designed that any leakage between the bowl and the fixture will register upon the floor over which the bowl is placed this floor or wall connection shall be water sealed in such a manner that the seal will be replenished at each operation of the fixture

Section 21 That section forty-six of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Water-Closets where Located

"Section 46 Water-closets must not be located in sleeping apartments nor in any room or compartment which has not direct communication with external air either by window or airshaft of at least four square feet" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Water-Closets where Located

Section 46 Water-closet apartments must not have direct communication with any dining room or kitchen nor shall any water-closet be placed in any dining room or kitchen Water-closet apartments must not be placed in a dining room kitchen or sleeping apartments nor have direct communication with a public dining room restaurant or kitchen nor be placed in any room or compartment which has not direct communication with external air either by window or air shaft of at least four square feet And when any window ventilating any water-closet compartment or bathroom opens directly into a vent shaft no window of any room other than water-closets bath-room or hall shall open into such vent shaft

Section 22 That section forty-seven of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Water-closets how Supplied

"Section 47 No water-closets except those placed in yards and flush meters volumeter or similar devices shall be supplied directly from the supply pipes" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Water-closets how Supplied

Section 47 All valves of flushing tanks shall be so fitted and adjusted as to prevent the waste of water

The water from flushing tanks shall be used for no other purposes nor will any stop be permitted in flush pipe

All water flushed plumbing fixtures shall be provided with pipes of ample size to furnish a sufficient quantity of water to thoroughly cleanse the bowl at each operation When filing plans the plumber shall furnish the plumbing inspector with a sketch or plan showing the size of the water pipe from the main to each water flushed plumbing fixture He shall furnish the plumbing inspector with all information regarding the size of the water main pressure in the water main or other source of supply The manner of tapping the water main and conducting the water into the building the height of the building the distance the fixtures are located above the water main the distance of the building from the source of supply together with any other information necessary to determine the size of pipe necessary to properly flush each fixture

He shall also furnish the plumbing inspector with a description of each and every fixture together with the information regarding the quantity of water necessary for each operation of such fixture and a description of a device by which the fixtures are being flushed From this information the chief plumbing inspector shall advise the size pipe to be used for supplying water to all fixtures in the building

It shall be the duty of the plumbing inspector to be positive that all plumbing fixtures are supplied with a sufficient quantity and volume of water to thoroughly cleanse the system and each fixture seperately and if for any reason the plumber does not follow the advise of the plumbing inspector in regard to the size of the water pipe the plumber shall before a final certificate is issued change or alter the water piping system in such a manner that all fixtures can be effectually and satisfactorily flushed

Any and all water flushed plumbing fixtures that receive putrescible waste matter shall be so constructed and assembled that it will be impossible for any portion of the contents of the bowl to syphon or flow into the water supply pipes The plumbing inspector shall demand a sample of all water flushed fixtures installed under his jurisdiction including the bowl and flushing device and he shall make a vacuum test on the water supply of the assembled fixtures and be positive the contents of the bowl cannot syphon and be drawn into the water supply pipes

Section 23 That section forty-eight of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Water-closets

"Section 48 All water-closets must have flushing rim-bowls" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Water-closets

Section 48 A Materials All receptacles used for water-closets urinals or otherwise for the disposal of human excreta shall be either vitrified earthenware hard natural stone or cast iron white porcelain enameled or painted on the outside with at least three (3) coats of non-absorbent and non-corrosive paint

B Bowls The bowls and traps for all fixtures supplied with flushing rims shall be made in one piece and of such shape and form as to hold a sufficient quantity of water when filled up to the trap overflow so as to completely submerge any matter deposited in them and properly flush and scour the soil pipe when the contents of the bowl are discharged except that nothing in this section shall apply to latrine closets

C Open Plumbing All plumbing fixtures shall be installed or set free and open from all enclosing work and where possible all waste and discharge pipes from fixtures shall be run to the wall and the fixture supported independently from the floor

D Low Down Closets Water closets with low down tanks shall be of syphon pattern

E All water flushed fixtures of the flushing rim type must be provided with integral traps and be flushed by some method that will afford a sufficient quantity of water to thoroughly cleanse the bowl at each operation Such flushing device to be arranged in a manner that will provide a sufficient after-fill to completely seal the trap to the overflow line

F Visible Trap Seal All water-closets pedestal urinals hospital clinic slop sinks and flushing rim slop sinks shall be made in one piece with trap and bowl combined and arranged in such a manner that the water in the trap will be visible from the top of the fixture

G Flushing Rims All water-closets pedestal urinals flat back urinals clinic slop sinks and flushing slop sinks shall have flushing rims provided at the extereme top of the bowl The flushing rim shall be made without perceptible interior overhang The flushing outlets through which water is supplied for cleansing the interior of the bowl shall be the only openings above the water seal of the trap and these holes shall be so arranged that the entire inner surface of the bowl to its extreme top can be effectively scoured at each operation of the flushing device

H Concealed or Exposed Openings No concealed or exposed vent opening will be permitted on the house side of the water seal of any trap No opening shall be placed on the house side of any fixture having an integral flushing rim other than the openings necessary to flush and cleanse the bowl

Closets Prohibited No range closet-either wet or dry nor any evaporating system of closets shall be constructed or allowed inside of any building

Section 24 That section fifty-three of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Construction of Urinals

"Section 53 All urinals must be constructed of materials impervious to moisture and that will not corrode under the action of urine The floor and walls or urinal apartments must be lined with similar non-absorbent and non-corrosive material" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Construction of Urinals

Section 53 All urinals must be constructed of materials impervious to moisture and that will not corrode under the action of urine and must be flushing rim or perforated pipe so as to cleanse all interior parts all urinals must be supplied by automatic tanks or flush valves The floor and walls of urinal apartments must be lined with similar non-absorbent and non-corrosive material

Section 25 That section fifty-four of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Urinal Platforms

"Section 54 The platforms or treads of urinal stalls must not be connected independently to the plumbing system nor can they be connected to any safe waste pipe" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Urinal Platforms

Section 54 The platforms or treads of urinal stalls must not be connected to the plumbing or drainage system nor can they be connected to any safe-waste-pipe

Section 26 That section fifty-seven of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Flush Pipes

"Section 57 Water-closet flush pipes must not be less than one and one-quarter inches and urinal flush pipes one-half inch in diameter" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Flush Pipes

Section 57 All flushing rim water supplied fixtures such as water-closets clinic slop sinks pedestal and flat back urinals and slop sinks shall be provided with a trap that has a two and one-half depth of water seal The depth of this seal shall be determined by sealing the waste outlet and attaching a guage provided with a "U" shapes glass tube and a registering device

Each and every bowl of this nature installed in any building shall show a depth of water seal equalling a column of two and one-half (2½) inches of water displaced on one side of the "U" shaped tube above the normal level of the water it shall be the duty of the department of health to supply such testing apparatus and any person wishing to install a fixture of this kind shall when requested furnish a sample bowl or bowls for inspection and approval by the plumbing inspector and no such bowl shall be installed which does not show a two and one-half inch water seal The seal of all traps other than those combined with the fixture may be measured with an ordinary rule but if for any reason the plumbing inspector doubts the depth of seal in any trap he can demand the same to be tested in the same manner as provided for closets

Section 27 That section fifty-eight of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which reads as follows

Lining for Closet and Urinal Cisterns

"Section 58 The copper lining of water-closet and urinal cisterns must not be lighter than twelve-ounce copper and must be stamped on lining with maker's name Where lead is used for lining it must not weigh less than four pounds to the square foot All other materials are prohibited" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Lining for Closet and Urinal Closets

Section 58 The wainscoting of all toilet rooms shall be set directly against the building partitions and in no case shall a utility corridor or pipe space having an opening at the top communicate with any other room The partitions of all utility corridors or pipe spaces which occur back of any water closets or urinals shall extend from the floor to the ceiling and have separate door opening from the corridor or toilet room into the utility chamber

All such pipe spaces shall be at least thirty (30) inches wide throughout their length and shall be provided with a window twenty-four by sixty (24 x 60) inches said window to connect with the open air and so placed that it will admit daylight into the utility corridor

To avoid maintaining a nuisance the owner of any building containing a utility corridor or pipe space shall have same thoroughly washed and cleaned at least once every ten (10) days and failure to comply with this section shall be considered a misdemeanor

Provision shall be made to avoid damage to drainage system caused by expansion or contraction of the pipes in buildings of extreme height Such devices or methods shall be subject to the approval of the health department

Section 28 That section sixty of said act of June seventh nineteen hundred and one which as amended by said act of May fourteenth nineteen hundred and nine reads as follows

Yard Water-Closets

"Section 60 Water-closets when located in yard must be so arranged as to be conveniently and adequately flushed and the water-supply pipes and traps protected from freezing by being placed in a hopper-pit at least four feet below the surface of the ground the walls of which pit shall be constructed of hard burned brick or stone laid in cement mortar or of concrete The walls for pit where one (1) closet is installed may be four (4) inches in thickness or salt-glazed sewer-pipe thirty-six (36) inches in diameter may be used

Where pit is for more than one (1) closet the walls shall be nine (9) inches in thickness The soil-pipes and traps used inside pit must be extra heavy cast-iron and the trap to have hand-hole for cleanout purposes with cleanout caulked in If the closet is located in the rear of a soil or vent-pipe the drain on which it is located shall be vented with a four-inch pipe carried above roof of closet away from any opening or window All outside closets shall be of the tank pattern The water to be supplied to tank through an automatic seat-action valve The waste from valve may be permitted to discharge on cement floor of pit which shall be provided with four-inch trap and strainer The enclosure of yard water-closets shall be ventilated by slatted openings and there shall be a trap door of sufficient size to permit of convenient access to the hopper-pit" be and the same is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 60 Water-closets when located in yard must be so arranged as to be conveniently and adequately flushed and the water-supply pipes and traps protected from freezing by being placed in a hopper-pit at least four feet below the surface of the ground the walls of which pit shall be constructed of hard burned brick or stone laid in cement mortar or of concrete The walls for pit where one (1) closet is installed may be four (4) inches in thickness or salt-glazed sewer-pipe thirty-six (36) inches in diameter may be used

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. S. G. Zerfass, offered the following prayer:

Our God, the Father of all, we would draw very near to Thee with love and faith. Graciously pardon all our sins and give us Thy peace. Help us to meet our responsibilities and to fulfil all our obligations. We yearn for deeper, richer blessings upon all of us here assembled as well as the dear ones at home. May the home ties be sanctified and our tender human affections enlarge our hearts so that we shall ever be doing each other good. Bless every one with present and eternal blessing. This beautiful morning fill our hearts and lives with sunshine and make us ever sweeter and happier. We ask all in Thy precious name. Amen.
